Louisville, Ky., May 17 .- (Special.)-The probable action of the democratic state convention, to be held in Louisville, May 25th, possesses unusual interest on account of the persistent opposition of Henry Watterson to the nomination of Grover Cleveland for president in the face of the strong sentiment of the democrats of the state for the ex-president.

Two months ago this sentiment was unmistakably overwhelming. Today, with no less personal loyalty to Cleveland, it Is a doubtful quantity. The best evidence that unthinking enthusiasm has given place to reason is the action of the county conventions to select delegates to the Nearly all of the 717 delegates have been chosen. Of these, 369 are uninstructed on the presidential question, 167 are instructed in favor of Carlisle, and ninetyone for Cleveland. In some counties heretofore for Cleveland, his nomination was strongly opposed, and in others instructions were given for Carlisle. This was notable in yesterday's convention in Davies county, where The Owensboro Daily Messenger, an influential local paper, has ably supported Cleveland, and instructed for Carlisle.

The strength of the Carlisle has surprised even its promoters. It was on the part of many merely "Takin' to the woods while in doubt," but others who consider the senator one of the formost leaders in the cause of tariff reform, are in earnest in their support of him. This is especially true of the farmers.

The action of the state convention on the question of instructions cannot be definitely predicted, except that it is considered certain it will not instruct for Cleveland. Senator Carlisle's name will be presented in the national convention with the endorsement of his state, and with the solid vote of its delegation supporting him. Henry Watterson will be one of the delegates at large.

DEMOGRATIC VICTORY.

is Placed as the First Rule of Duty Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., May 17 .- (Special.)-The democratic state convention to elec-lour delegates at large to the Chicago con on will meet on June 8th. The primary elections, county conventions or ma neetings, as the case may be, to select lelegates in the various counties will all he held on the same day, viz., June 1st. There has been no excitement and no conesired by every Mississippi democrat is a andidate who can win. It is conceded by ill that the delegates will be sent to Chica-to with no instructions except to join in nomination of the man win. Cleveland's friends lose instructions and would not join in lorcing him upon the convention if conduced, when our delegates reach Chicago, he cannot be elected. The district clegates in this state are always chosen in the day of the holding of state convenpates. None of them will be instructed.

NEW YORK MUST NAME CLEVELAND

Otherwise the Delegation from Alabam Will Oppose Him. Birmingham, Ala., May 17.—(Special.)— Nearly four hundred of the 460 delegates to he state convention have been elected. There has been no contest in any county recept Lauderdale over the presidential andidates. Of the 130 alliance or Kolb elegates, about one hundred are anti-Cleveand. Of the two hundred and sixty odd nes delegates, at least seventy-five are uni-Cleveland, making 175 who are against Develand in any event. Of the whole number elected, at least as many will be for Develand first, last and all the time. The re-haining 100 will be for the man who can wir will not be any attempt to interfere with the listricts in selecting each its own delegates,

Who Can Poll the Farmers' Vote.

Cincinnati, May 17.—(Special.)—Only six of the district delegates to the national democratic convention from Ohio have been elected, and four of the six are anti-Cleveland.

The two who favor the ex-president are from the Cleveland district.

Most of the delegates will be elected by the delegates to the state convention from the various counties, which will meet in districts at the convention and announce their preferences. There are sure to be four anti-Cleveland men from Cincinnati, where the feeling against him among the workingmen is very bitter. The delegates at large will be divided—probably two of each. John R. McLean, of The Enquirer, can go if he desires, and he will demand that another man of his views on the presidency shall be elected to serve with tricts will choose their delegates to Chicago before the state convention—the seventh, thirteenth and seventeenth. As mentioned in a previous dispatch, the farmers of the state are showing a surprising apathy in the contest, because they fear that the pins have been set up for Cleve-land to win, and they will not support him, and the people's party will poll the largest independent vote ever known in Ohio should

From the best information attainable, the Ohio delegation will contain a majority against Cleveland of fifteen. Congressman Durgan, of the old thirteenth district, who has been gerrymandered into a republican district, announces to his constituents that he will not be a candidate for re-election unless his party makes a free silver platform. He says that the people of his district are almost unanimously against the renominating of Cleveland, and, although there is little chance for his re-election, he will be a candidate for the good of his party if Hill or any other good democrat is the standard bearer.

Baltimore, Md., May 17 .- (Special.)-The Maryland democratic convention, which will meet here on the 7th of June to select delegates to the Chicago convention, will have for a controlling hand that of Senator

That means that it will be an anti-

Cleveland delegation.

The delegates will not, however, be instructed for any one, but there will be the strongest sort of an endorsement of Senator Gorman. The delegates will go to Chicago with the full understanding that they are to take advantage of any opportunity that may offer for the selection of the senior Maryland senator as the head of the ticket. There will also be a full understanding that Mr. Cleveland is to be

There is some Cleveland strength along the eastern shore, but it will not amount to anything in the convention. Mr. Gor-man will be one of the delegates at large if he so desires. He has not yet signified whether he wants to go or not. He will, however, be at Chicago anyway, for he is the chairman of the national democratic executive committee. The chances are that he will be there in both that capacity and leader of the Maryland delegation. His opposition to Cleveland is not personal. He was out against that gentleman long before his own name was ever mentioned in con-nection with the nomination. That his opposition means a great deal; his record as a safe, careful and astute political leader foretell beyond cavil.

ILLINOIS WILL VOTE FOR PALMER-The Work of Consolidating the Delegation Making Progress.

Springfield, Ill., May 17 .- (Special.)-One of the maddest men in Illinois, since the adjournment of the state convention, has been John Mayo Palmer, the son of the senneed John Mayo Palmer, the son of the sen-ator. It was perfectly well understood among the close friends of the senator that his Cleveland protestations were intended to direct Cleveland sentiment toward himself. He protested too much, and caught. The unit rule was adopted. A quiet canvass of the delegates elected dis-closes the fact that a majority will support Palmer, and thus swing the whole delega-tion to him. State issues have aided in bringing about this result. The Palmer mer have quietly informed the friends of the Altgelt ticket that certain delegates, whose interests are in the same ticket would do well to do their duty by Palmer. The hint was understood, and the deal made perfects Palmer's control of a majority of the delegation which is all that he needs.

The Hill Men Solid.

The Hill following is as solid as Gibraltar. All manner of schemes are concocted to mislead them, but all such efforts are quickly thwarted.

The convention will pass resolutions concerning Cleveland. The resolutions will criticize Cleveland. It is thought that Governor Tillman, Senator Irby, State Senator Evans, J. W. Stokes, president of the state alliance, will be sent as delegates at large. The alliance caucus will convene at 8 o'clock.

Nothing definite can be said further than already stated, until after its adjournment.

The delegation will go uninstructed, but will support Hill as long as he has any chance. NEW JERSEY FOR M'PHERSON.

Champion Democratic State of the North Has a Favorite Son.

Trenton, N., May 17.—(Special.)—
The Cleveland people, who have held all along that they had a walk-over in New Jersey, are hustling as if they had lost much of their confidence. They begin to admit that it is very doubtful, indeed, if they can get more than a perfunctory sort of an endorsement for their man.

Senator McPherson has developed great strength in the past two weeks as a favorite son, so great strength, indeed, that it is now almost certain that Cleyeland's share in the honor of the state convention will be secondary. He will not fare much better at the hands of the New Jersey democrats in Iowa. Senator McPherson will do for him in this state what Boles did for him in his state. Advices from Washington are that Senator McPherson is certain to be a candidate, and has promises of support from many uninstructed delegates from other states.

INDIANA WILL VOTE FOR GRAY An Understanding Has Been Reached by Which the Delegates Will Be Solid.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 17.-(Special.)-Negotiations which have been under way for two weeks, looking to the united action of the Indiana delegation in Chicago, have had a successful termination. The delegation, as elected, stood: Gray, 19; Cleveland, 11. For awhile the Cleveland men held out that their construction of the instructions were to vote for Cleveland first, and Gray were to vote for Cleveland first, and Gray in the event of Cleveland's inability to carry the convention. With the possible single exception of Mr. Morss, the delegation will vote for Gray on the first ballot. There will be no official announcement made until the delegation meets in Chicago, but the fact remains that the agreement has been recorded. mains that the agreement has been reached.

GOVERNOR BOIES FIRM. He Will Remain Where the Vote of His State Has Placed Him.

Des Moines, Ia., May 17.-(Special.)-"I will remain exactly where the vote of the state convention placed me," was the reply of Governor Boies to some Cleveland men, who sought his assent to a statement that he would be content with a complimentary vote. The friends of Governor Boies have been greatly angered by the persistent atti-tude of some Cleveland agents, who sought to throw discredit upon the convention's en-dorsement of the governor. The lowa dele-gation, it can be stated upon authority, will at no stage of the proceedings vote for Cleveland or Hill. They are satisfied that the best thing to do with New York is to keep at a distance from it.

The alliance conference, now in progress, is proof of this. The alliancemen are opposed to Cleveland, and it is only by clever and liberal management that they can be kept in the party at all. FLORIDA WANTS A WINNING MAN. And Will Take No Part in Keeping Up Tallahassee, Fla., May 17.-(Special.)-The state convention, which will meet in Tampa on the 1st of June, will be wedded to democracy pure and simple.

The people of Florida are tired of this wrangling between New York aspirants. At the same time they feel the necessity of carrying New York. This, they feel can best be done by going elsewhere for a candidate. There are strong friends of both Hill and Cleveland here, but they are more anxious for the election of a democratic president than for the success of either individual

WILL BAYARD BE A CANDIDATEP A Strange Rumor Which Finds Its Way Out from Delaware.

Dover, Del., May 17 .- (Special.)-There is a strong probability that Hon. Thomas F. Bayard's name will be presented as candidate for the presidency.

When the state convention met today it was expected that the delegation would be instructed for Cleveland. When the platform was read, and found to contain only a laudatory puff of Mr. Cleveland, with the instruction feature carefully omitted, there was surprise. When, later, attention was drawn to the fact that Mr. Bayard's name headed the list of delegates, the whole affair began to look

The investigation which followed developed the fact that Bayard has not given up hope of the presidency. It is well known that Mr. Bayard totally disagreed with President Cleveland's civil service fad. Bayard would have appointed a dem-ocratic postmaster in New York. He has now placed himself in range of the lightning, and his little delegation is Under No Circumstances Can Clevela Get Her Solid Vote.

The Louisiana vote will probably be very scattering in the national demo-cratic convention, and divided between

The state convention will not instruct, but will leave every delegate to his own judgment, selecting the strongest men politically in the state. The delegation will not vote solidly, but will be divided into two and possibly three factions. After the late split in the democratic party over state issues, two distinct and hostile parties were formed, each with its executive committee. It was intended to send two separate delegations to Chicago, but peace between the two factions has been restored to such an extent lately, that only one delegation will be sent to Chicago, composed of eight anti-lottery and eight McEnery delegates. The Farmers' Alliance, which constitutes the bulk of the anti-lottery faction, will claim and be given at least four of their delegates. These will be anti-Cleveland, the alliance having declared against Mr. Cleveland at its meetings. Of the other twelve delegates, four will go one way, and eight another; but whatever way one goes, the other will be different, so that Cleveland at best, is not likely to get more than eight votes from Louislana. and he will not get these unless he shows an overwhelming strength in the conventhe Race. Bainbridge, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)— Owing to his life-long fealty to the dem-ocratic party and his ability as a leader in the various campaigns that have created the political history of Georgia and the second congressional district since the war, and his unswerving loyalty to the principles of democracy under any and all circumstances, there seems to be a general demand that Hon. Ben Russell, of Decatur, make the race for the congressional nom-ination. His candidacy has already been announced by the state press. Captain Russell, in an interview, in answer to the question, "Are you a candidate for congress?" said:

"I am for the success of the democracy in this campaign, first, last and all the time. I have placed my poor services at the command of the district executive committee, and intend to go wherever they think I can strike a blow for democratic success. I have no congressional ambition. The triumph of the principles of our party would be of itself glory enough for me, but if there came a well-defined demand from the democracy of the various counties in the district for me to bear the standard of the cause in this fight, I would feel that I could not refuse it, and would go in to the extent of my ability, at the same time believing that there are men at their disposal greatly more competent than my-

"No, not at all," said Captain Russell "I will contend for democracy pure and simple, and my principles will be those enunciated in the platform to be put forth by the national democratic convention by the national democratic convention which meets in Chicago next month. Nothing more could be expected from one who has been fighting in the organized ranks of democracy since he attained his majority twenty-five years ago."

Captain Russell's friends are legion throughout the district and they have certainly made him a congressional probability VIRGINIA WILL BE UNINSTRUCTED. And the Delegation Will Be Headed by Senator Daniel.

Richmond, Va., May 17 .- (Special.)-Practically all of the 1,657 delegates to the state convention have been elected, the re turns are about all in, and Mr. Cleveland lacks a good deal of being master of the situation in Virginia.

The strength of the opposition to him is ecoming more apparent as the day draws

A very careful calculation made tonight by a gentleman very well posted in politi-cal affairs in the state, makes the figures stand this way: Hill or uninstructed, 846, or nineteen more than enough to control Cleveland, 679; unknown, 132.

This gives the anti-Cleveland people con-trol of the convention, and they will have five districts certain with good chance for the third and first. The Cleveland people claim that they will have nearly one hundred majority in the convention, but they are doomed to disappointment.

There is talk tonight of a compromise be ing effected, under which the four dele-gates at large shall be equally divided between the two factions. Some of the lead ers are advocating this in the interest of harmony and to heal such differences as have naturally arisen in what has proved to be the most hotly contested fight of the kind ever waged in Virginia.

About fifty delegates arrived on the late trains tonight. Among them Senator Daniel, Editor Carter Glass, of The Lynchburg News, who is a strong advocate an uninstructed delegation; Colonel O'Ferrall and several other party lights. It is quite certain that Senator Daniel will head quite certain that Senator Daniel will nead the Virginian delegation. The Cleveland managers have not had him on the alate, but they are afraid to make war on him, and a day or two ago wrote him a letter offering to put him on their ticket if he would carry out their wishes. They were assuming that they would have the convention, and hoped to make sure of victory by putting him on their slate. Some men elected in Cleveland meetings declare that they will desert him before they will vote against the senator. Both sides will have meetings tomorrow night. Virginia will send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago, opposed to Cleveland

Open and Three Negroes Journey Toward "The Beautiful Shore."

Clarksville, Ga., May 17 .- (Special.)-But this morning they played a leading part in a triple swinging a mile and a half from the Habersham county jail.

The three charms that hung from the three chains were Jim Redmond, Gus Roberson and Bob Addison, the three negroes three chains were Jim Redmond, Gus Roberson and Bob Addison, the three negroes who were arrested last week charged with the murder of Marshal Carter, of Toccoa. Before the negroes were brought here from Toccoa there were many threats of lynching and at one time it looked very much like the negroes would never reach the jail to tax the people for grub until the law could dispose of them. At first five negroes were arrested for the crime and had not one of them, Redmond, made a big talk there would have been five trace chains tested this morning instead of three.

Redmond, in his declaration, denied having any hand in the murder, but admitted that he had seen the bloody deed committed by Roberson and Addison.

That statement caused the release of the other two prisoners and on the evening it was made a mob was organized to lynch Redmond, Roberson and Addison. Sheriff Gastly, however, managed to sneak the three prisoners out of town and to take them to the Clarksville jail.

Redmond's statement that he had seen his two fellow prisoners do the work was believed.

But his declaration that he had no hand

But his declaration that he had no hand But his declaration that he had no hand in it was not believed.

For two or three days a systematic organization of a mob had been going on, and yesterday Sheriff Gastly received information that he would have a visit that night. The sheriff at once wired the governor, who ordered him to protect his prisoners, and a guard was organized and placed around the jail. Believing that he would have a determined crowd to deal with, Sheriff Gastly removed the other prisoners from the jail to the town calaboose. All night long a careful watch was kept up, and towards day the sheriff and his guards were growing easy.

They thought the crisis had passed.

But just before dawn a party, estimated all the way from one hundred to five hundred, came up and, surrounding the jail, demanded the prisoners.

"You can't get them," answered the sheriff.

"See here Gastly." said the leader, who "See here, Gastly," said the lender, who was heavily masked, "we know it's your diffy to protect these men. We know, too, that you have a lot of boys here to help you. We don't want to hurt you and those boys, but we are going to have those ne groes. You'd better give them up."

The sheriff refused again, and instantly.

The sheriff refused again, and instantly two or three men sprang upon him. Then the crowd advanced upon the jail and, brushing aside the guard like a cobweb, battered the door in. The keys to the cells were then taken from the sheriff and the door to the one occupied by the three negroes was unlocked. The negroes knew what was coming, and Redmond and Addison begged piteously for mercy but Roberson never opened his mouth. The negroes were carried about a mile and a half from the jail and the mob stopped. Three long trace chains and hree padlocks were produced, and the chains were locked around the negroes. and the chains were locked around the negroes necks. Then Redmond was made to stand upon a horse under a limb of a tree. A man who had climbed the tree made the chain fast and Redmond was qustioned about the killing. He repeated the same story he first told.

Some one touched the horse with a whip and he sprang from under Redmond. As the negro went down he exclaimed:
"Lord have merey on my soul."
Addison came next, but he denied all knowledge of the crime. Just before the horse moved he dropped off as through dead and fell full length of the chain.

Roberson was put upon the horse and asked the same questions which had been propounded to the others.

"All I know I'll die and go to hell knowing," he said, "before I'll tell."

The horse was touched and Roberson went down. His neck was broken while the other two died of strangulation. Redmond's death was horrible. He could be heard breathing a hundred yards away.

The bodies were left hanging side and side until 3 o'clock this afternoon when the coroner took them down. The verdict was death from unknown hands.

Some Congressmen Think Enough New Vessels Have Been Built.

Washington, May 17.—In the senate Mr. Chamller introduced a bill to authorize the registration of certain steamships of the registration of certain steamships of the United States, and it was referred to the committee on commerce. Mr. McPherson, who had, last Friday, offered an amendment to strike out the house provision for an armored cruiser and the senate provision for a battle ship, and to provide for three instead of one harbor defense, double turret ships of the monitor type, modified his amendment so as to confine it simply to striking out part of it, leaving the number of monitors at one.

HOT WORDS IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, May 17.—Even the prospect of a silver skirmish if not a battle today did not have the effect of bringing a large attendance have the effect of bringing a large attendance to the house this morning, and there were not a hundred meinbers present when the hour of noon arrived. The journal having been read, Mr. Walker, of Massachusetts, objected to its approval. He did so for the reason that the resolution to expunge certain remarks of his from the record was a special order for yesterday, but was not called up. He wished to have the matter disposed of and not left hanging over his head during the remainder of the session, to be acted upon possibly fin the closing hour.

hour. McMillin, of Tennessee, moved that the journal be approved, and on this motion demanded the previous question. As the republicans did not vote and the democrata could not muster a quorum the yeas and nays ware ordered.

posicions and not vote and the democratic could not muster a quorum the yeas and nays were ordered.

Before the conclusion of roll call, however, Mr. Walker withdrew his objection. The call as far as it had proceeded, was eliminated from the record and the journal was approved.

Messrs. Cogswell, Bingham and Dingley made a number of earnest but unsuccessful attempts to increase the appropriations for the care, lighting and heating of public buildings. They contended that the sums appropriated by the bill were inadequate and that the cuts made by the committee would impair the public service.

Messrs, Holman and Sayers dealed the correctness of this, and argued that the sums given were sufficiently large. A clause relative to depredation on public timber gave rise to a good deal of merriment.

Mr. Moses and Jerry.

Mr. Moses, of Georgia, in speaking to a verbal amendment replied to some charges made against him yesterday by Mr. Simpson, of Kansas, to the effect that he had veted for made against him yesterday by Mr. Simpson, of Kansas, to the effect that he had veted for the improvement of the Savannah harbor because he chose to vote $2,500,000 to the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company. It was the proud prerogative of the gentleman from Kansas—a free lance—to look around and knock a head wherever he might see it. But he (Mr. Moses) despised the claim which any man might make, of being holier than thou—than man. The gentleman had himself voted to deepen the channel of the great lakes when the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Whiting) said that it was being engineered in the interest of the railroads.—But he (Mr. Moses) was not a man who thought that he was sent here to assume that any representative would cast his vote on improper grounds. He had voted for the Savannah appropriation because he thought that Savannah was entitled to recognition at the hands of the American congress. It was a mistake to say that the appropriation was in the interest of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company. That railroad had no interest in Savannah. It carried all the business it could away from Savannah. Did not the geutleman know that the great hue and cry against the river and harbor bill was raised simply because the south got an honest recognition?

He (Mr. Moses) and voted against an appropriation of $35,000 for the holding of inquests over the bones of dead Indians who had died 1,000 years ago. And he had voted for the river and harbor bill. He would vote millions whenever the interest of the people of the whole country thin the expenditure involved in the river and harbor bill.

Mr. Simpson said that the gentleman had called him a free lance and had stated that was core in the interest of the people of the whole country thin the expenditure involved in the river and harbor bill.

Messrs. Otis of Kansas, Wilson of Washington, Bowers of California, and Snodgrass of Tennessee, engaged in a noisy controversy as to whether or not the law was efficiently executed. They all spoke in an excited manner, but what they sald was unintelligible, owing to the fact that they all talked at once, regardless of the speaker's gavel and regardless of the laughter of their colleagues.

Messrs. Bowers and Snodgrass had a difference as to some remark that had been made by the former, or which Mr. Snodgrass had understood him to make, and although the lie was not passed an "I did not" and "You did," style of argument was indulged in, to the amusement of members.

Without disposing of the bill the committee and house adjourned.

Mr. Watson, of Georgia, objected to Mr. Holman's request that the call of the committee be dispensed with. Mr. Boatner, of Louisiana, from the committee on judiciary, reported, and the house adopted, without debate or division, the resolution requesting the attorney general to inform the house whether any information had been furnished to the department of justice on the subject of the Reading combine of such a character as to authorize him to institute proceedings against persons who have combined in violation of the anti-trust law, and if so to communicate that information to the house.

Mr. Holman wished to proceed with the sundry civil bill, but he was stopped by Mr. Watson's demand for the "regular order," which the speaker stated to be the Walker expunging resolution.

Mr. Holman desired to raise the question of consideration but the speaker decided that that could not be done, as the previous question had been ordered.

Mr. Walker himself asked that consideration of the resolution be postponed, but Mr. Watson was adamant and renewed his demand. So once more did the resolution block the track until it was shunted into the round-house on rules by a motion made by Mr. Burrows.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

The Grand Lodge Holding Its Annual Savannah.

Savannah. Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—The grand lodge of Knights of Pythias of Georgia began its annual session in Savannah today. The session will last three days. Over one thousand knights are in attendance. The visiting lodges, divisions and delegations were welcomed to the city this morning by Hon. A. P. Adams. Past Grand Chancellor D. B. Wocdruff, of Macon, responded to the address in behalf of the knights. A parade was one of the features of the day; 1,000 knights being in behalf of the knights. A parade was one of the features of the day: 1,000 knights being in line. This afternoon a secret session was held. Tomorrow the drill of the uninformed divisions will occur. and regimental officers of the uniformed rank will be elected. It is expected that Colonel R. F. Harmon will be elected grand chancellor. Grand Chancellor Leopold's report shows the membership of the order in the state to be 4,300, an increase of over one thousand last year. There are fifty-six lodges in Georgia, an increase of seven in the last twelve months.

Judge Clark's Charge to the Jury-Scene in the Courtroom—How the Verdict Was Received.

"Guilty!" That was the brief, but solemn, verdict of the jury yesterday.

fortunate victim.

Yesterday morning at 9:15 o'clock Judge Clark commenced his charge to the jury. It occupied three-quarters of an hour in its delivery, and was a clear and explicit state ment of the law. He defined murder, mal ice of both kinds, manslaughter and justifiable homicide. He also read and explained fully the law pertaining to the prisoner's statement, the dying declaration of the victim and the legal meaning of a "reasonable doubt." He further charged as Teasonable doubt." He further charged as to the testimony of Ed Holland and stated to the jury that if they believed him a participater in the crime, the fact should go to his discredit, and they could reject his testimony entirely if they saw proper. Then charging as to the form of their verdict, he delivered the case into their hands, and the jury at 10 o'clock filed into its room.

Solicitor Hill Unwell.

After the retirement of the jury, Solicitor Hill approached the judge and stated that he was too unwell to remain longer in the courtroom and that his associate, Colonel Bray, would remain in his stead until the verdict was announced. The solicitor then went to his home for treatment and recuperation. His illness was brought on by his zeal in prosecuting the case, and a short rest will no doubt restore him perfectly. On account of the solicitor's illness, Judge Chark announced that the criminal cases remaining on the docket would be deferred until June 20th, when the work of the court would be resumed. The jurors summoned for the week were then dismissed with the understanding that they were to report for duty at the time indicated.

The Jury Send for a Pen and Ink.

The Jury Send for a Pen and Ink. The jury at 11:20 o'clock rapped on the door opening into the courtroom, and asked for a pen and ink with which to write out the verdict. Ten minutes later there cam another tapping and the bailiff, opening the door, announced to the court that the jury was ready to come out.

"Let the jury remain in the room until Colonel Glenn arrives," replied the judge.

"I promised Colonel Glenn that I would have him telephoned when the jury was

"Colonel Glenn will not be here, your honor, and he has requested me to represent him." stoke out Colonel Reub Arnold.

"Then bring the jury out, Mr. Bailiff."
Thereupon the twelve jurors, with no sign of their verdict written in their faces, entered the jury box. Eagerly the crowd sought out the foreman and riveted their glance upon the important document which he held in his hands.

It was a moment of painful suspense.

"Gentlemen," came from the court, "have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," answered the foreman.

"Then receive the verdict, Colonel Bray."
The associate counsel for the prosecution reached out his hand to receive the paper, and first acquainting himself with the import of the words, he elevated his eyebrows and slowly articulated the fatal verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty."

internally he displayed no sign of agitation, but after a moment his eyes sought out the countenance of his father, and he seemed to recoil as he encountered the gaze of his noble parent—devoted to his boy in disgrace and loving him to the last.

It was a scene that lasted for a moment only, but the mind, in its rapid photography, seized the picture, and the memory will never cease to retain it.

The excitement that followed the verdict was soon broken by the voice of the court. "Gentlemen of the jury," said Judge Clark, "there are two defendants indicted in the bill, and your verdict leaves a doubt as to which of the two you mean. Go back to your room and alter your verdict so as to make it read; "We, the jury, find the defendant, Porter Stocks, guilty." The jury retired and in a few minutes returned with the verdict as required.

jurors, and the verdict was unanimously affirmed.

The jury, before agreeing upon its verdict, stood eleven for hanging to one for recommendation. The stubborn juror came over after a few minutes, but as soon as the bill was signed repented his hasty action and redeclared his opposition to such a verdict. He finally agreed, however, to abide the opinion of the majority, and the jury stood twelve for guilty.

The crowd influenced by that srange mesmerism that pervades the courtroom whenever a prisoner is sentenced or condemned, lingered in a kind of stupid gaze for several minutes and then commenced to pass out of the doors gradually.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said Judge Clark, addressing the twelve men who had just finished their solemn work, and after a large part of the crowd had passed out, "you have conducted yourselves with credit throur out this long and arduous case, and I desire to congratulate you that your difficult and unpleasant task is ended. Thanking you for your patient and able service you are now at liberty for the balance of the term."

Passing out of the door and down into the clerk's office, where they received their compensation, they dispersed in happy relief to their several homes.

Porter Stocks, with different feelings, returned to his lonely cell, saying to one of the bailiffs as he passed out of the courroom, Ed Holland is just as guilty as I am and should be punished in the same way. No other word escaped his lips as he silently returned to jail

And the trial of Porter Stocks was ended.

BAKING POWDER

In the New York Legislature, The following, taken from The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter, refers to a new bill just introduced in the legislature of New York state:

The latest development in the baking powder war, is the introduction of a bill in the legislature of this state, requiring all packages of baking powder which contain ammonia, to be branded with a statement of that fact in large type on the label basing powder which the problem of that fact in large type on the label.

Now while the ammonia contention is on, why cannot the law give the public the benefit of the doubt? Wholly unprejudiced people are certainly not willing to be dosed with the substance acknowledged as a poison, simply because scientists, some of whom are not even physiologists, disagree as to its potency.

A similar bill was introduced last April A similar bill was introduced last April, but it is shrewdly surmised that the influence of interested parties prevented its passage. The provisions of the present bill are so just that it will probably soon become a law.

This will be welcome news to the manufacturers of pure Cream of Tartar baking powders, the most prominent of whom is the Price Baking Powder Company, of Chicago and St. Louis, makers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, who have always made a strictly pure Cream of Tartar powder, notwithstanding the tempta-tions of adulteration suggested by the enormous profits realized by a large New York concern which uses ammonia, and adver tises its powder as strictly pure, by means of garbled official reports and certificates signed by its own employes, dubbed professor, doctor or government chemist, fancy may dictate.

A bill compelling alum powders to be conspicuously labeled as such already exists in Minnesota, and it is to be hoped, in the interest of the consumer, that similar laws will soon be enacted in other states, for ammonia, as well as alum.

The following powders, known to contain either ammonia or alum, or both, will be affected by the proposed legisaltion: Royal, Pearl, Calumet, Chicago Yeast, Forest City, One Spoon (Taylor's), Bon Bon, Kenton, Echo, Snow Puff, Unrivaled, Yarnall's One Spoon, Shephard's Economical. Crown, Climax, Hercules, Monarch, New Era, Snow Ball.—Detroit News.

NEW YORK NOTES.

Atlantians Who Are There and What They Are Doing.

New York, May 16 .- (Special.)-Tuesday or Wednesday next there will be a meeting of theatrical managers in New York to form a new southern circuit. B. W. Kleibacker, of Atlanta, who is here now, says of it: "The meeting will represent Atlanta, Richmond, Norfolk, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Danville, Roanoke, Bristol, Wilmington, Charleston, Columbus, Montgomery, Selma, and other towns in that territory. A per-manent organization will be effected, and the formation of the new circuit will carry south a number of first-class attractions that have been kept out heretofore by the old monopoly—Mansfield, Davenport, Tar and Tartar, and that class."

Major Sandy Cunningham, proprietor of the Edgewood Avenue theater, is here now, but mainly on insurance business.

Tom Leath, of Richmond, manager of three or four Virginia theaters, and proxy for seven or eight more, is here, too.

Fresno, Cal., May 17.—The democratic state convention will be called to order here at noon today.

The call under which the convention is assembled provides that it shall elect delegates to the national convention, choose presidential electors, elect a new state central committee and divide into district conventions and nominate congressmen. It is expected the nominate congressmen. It is expected the convention will last three days for in addition to this routine work there are two matters of special interest, which are expected to come before the gathering. One is whether delegates to the national convention shall be instructed to vote for Cleveland and the other temperature the platform shall content a plank instructed to vote for Cleveland and the other is whether the platform shall contain a plank endorsing the San Francisco Traffic Association, declaring in favor of low freight rates and competing the overland rallroad. The fight for chairman, to a limited extent, hinges on these questions. The candidates who are being put forward are D. A. Ostrom and B. D. Murphy. The Cleveland forces, who wish to instruct and declare in favor of rallroad competition are behind Ostrom, while the Hill men and other conservatives, who think it unwise to instruct and who desire to evade the railroad issue, favor Murphy.

Accident to a Circus Train. Accident to a Circus Train.

Atchison, Kas., May 17.—The first section of Ring Bhen Brothers' circus train, east-bund, on the Central branch road, was ditched one mile east of Concordia at 2:45 o'clock this morning. Four showmen were killed and five badly injured. The accident occurred while the train was passing over a small culvert. The engine passed over in safety but the structure gave way with the first car. Several cars were piled up in the stream. About twenty head of stock were drowned. Two dead bodies have been taken from the wreck. A wrecking crew left Atchison for the scene of the accident, and Assistant Chief Surgeon Farrar left shortly after on a specifit train. Recent heavy rains caused the culvers to weaken.

Which the Methodists Propose to Build in North Atlanta.

AN INTERESTING MEETING LAST NIGHT

Held at the Home of Colonel I. W. Avery A Committee Appointed to Decide on a Site.

The meeting of the committees from the First and Merritts avenue Methodist churches, appointed to look after the building of a north Atlanta Methodist church was held last evening at the residence of Colonel L. W. Avery,

The committee from the First church was composed of Messrs. Isaac S. Boyd, W. L. Peel, A. F. West and W. H. Nutting. The committee from the Merritts avenue church was Colonel I. W. Avery, M. J. Walker, T. E. Veal, M. J. Frazier, A. H. Holbrook, M. C. Bates and James S. Boyd.

Bishop Fitzgerald opened the meeting with orayer. Colonel Avery, chairman of the general committee, stated that the universal opin-ion was that the time had arrived and the duty had become imperative to start the con-struction of a new and adequate Methodist church in north Atlanta-perhaps the mos promising field for such a spiritual project in the state. The colonel further stated that the committees mentioned above had been hard at work and the movement now needed the counsel and co-operation of the wisest and most zealous Methodists.

He reported a number of lots that could be and announced the meeting ready for discussion and action.

Bishop Fitzgerald was the first to make a response. He said that this movement com-ing right upon his arrival here had been an inspiration to him, betokening as it did a great project for the advancement of Meth-odism. He urged that a great church be built, one that was large, handsome, com nodius and imposing. The following resolution was then offered modius and imposing.

The following resolution was then offered by Captain Isaac S. Boyd.

"Resolved, That the following committee be appointed to look into the eligibility of the lots offered for sale, upon which to build a Methodist church in north Atlanta, and report which one in their judgment was the most desirable, preferring Peachtree street, and that said committee devise and report a plan for the purchase of said lot.

George Winship, W. A. Hemphill, W. L. Peel, H. C. Leonard, Isaac S. Boyd, F. P. Rice, Judge Walker, Colonel Avery.

A very earnest discussion casued which was participated in by Dr. Robins, Captain Boyd, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Heldt, Colonel Henry Hillard, Mr. George Winship, Mr. W. H. Nutting and Dr. Hopkins. The whole tenor of the discussion showed a hearty interest and enthusiasm in the movement, and an earnest desire to practically press it, to success. There was complete unaminity and the feeling enthusiastic. There was an evident determination on the part of all to execute immediately the great project under consideration. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

On next Friday night another meeting will tion. The resolutions were unabled adopted.

On next Friday night another meeting will be held at the residence of Colonel Avery at which time the matter will be further discussed. There was a large number of ladies present, who manifested a great deal of interest in the scheme for the building of the new church. This church will be one of the handsomest and costliest edifices ever erected in the south, and it is now a question of a few weeks only before the new church will be under construction.

GENERAL THOMAS HAS A PLAN. He Says He Thinks He Can Handle the Reorganization.

New York, May 17.—A long conference of parties identified with the Richmend Terminal system was held today in President Oakman's office, and at the meeting several propositions were made in connection with new steps for reorganization, but no information in regard to these propositions was given out. General Thomas said before the conference that he could arrange a reorganization with an assessment of 5 or 6 per cent on preferred stock. The new plan would involve a reorganization of both the Danville and the Terminal Companies, as he considers them identical, but the East Tennessee would go along as it is without being concerned in the affairs of other companies.

of other companies.

John H. Inman was asked by banking in-terests if he would accept the presidency of the Terminal Company, but he gave a pos-tive refusal to the request. He will, how-ever, re-enter the Terminal directory, and it is expected that in a few days General Thomas will resume the office of president of the East Tennessee Company.

Morganton, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—Akin, the man who was jailed here for eloping with a young girl, is at liberty. When Judge Withrow opened the door to Mr. Akin's cell to give him some clothing Akin made a break for liberty. Out over the judge he came. Colonel Trammell being present, knocked him down with his stick, but this did not stop him in his onward flight, but over the door he bounded almost into the arms of James Trammell, who collared him but only retained his cravat and a small portion of his shirt. Out at the door he went and once more breathed the fresh air of liberty. Colonel Chastain had just received information from Judge Gober to have Mr. Akin placed under a $2,500 bond. This is three men who have escaped from jail here within one year. We are in favor of having no more criminals confined in this jail. Let them be sent to Marletta. They can be kept there as cheaply as here, and without fear of escaping justice.

Sold Under the Sheriff's Hammer. A lot of furniture and other household goods levied on as the property of Miss A. A. Hammett, was yesterday sold by Deputy Sheriff Green, during the legal hours of sale, to satisfy a claim in favor of H. C. Erwin, Jr. A handsome upright plann was among the pieces and the entire collection sold to various parties for $133.

The Tax Receiver's Office.

The tax returns yesterday were heavier, than they have been any day yet. Only three days now remain, as the city books close on, May 20th. Heretofore the receiver has indulged the taxpayers beyond the limit fixed by law for making their returns, but he will-not be able to accommodate them during the present year. The board of equalizers meets on June 1st to pass upon and approve returns, and they must all be rendered in time for the meeting of the hoard.

Electing Delegates in Alabama.

Anniston, Ala., May 17.—(Special.)—The Calhoun county convention met at Jacksonville today, and elected delegates to the state, congressional, senatorial, judicial and chancery conventions. Fhree, to the state convention, were instructed for Thomas G. Jones for governor, and those to the judicial convention for Richard B. Kelly, of Anniston. The Anniston delegation combined with the alliance delegates, and sent a delegation favorable to Dr. M. H. Lane for congress.

Paid an Old Claim.

Washington, May 17.—The court of claims has completed its investigation of the claim of the executors of Anna M. Fitzhugh, referred to it by congress under the Bowmsn act. This is a claim for timber taken by United States troops, during the war, from "Rairnsworth," in Fairfax county, Virginia. Mrs. Fitzhugh was a life tenant of this property, and at her death it reverted to the children of Mary A. R. Curtis, wife of General Robert E. Lee.

The court found that Mrs. Fitzhugh was loyal to the government, and that timber to the value of $216,000 was taken from the estate, but that at the time this was done the property belonged by reversion entirely to the children of General Robert E. Lee, viz: G. W. C. Lee, W. H. F. Lee, Mary C. Lee, Robert E. Lee and Mildred Lee. These heirs have never made any application for legal redress and will be entitled to compensation for the timber taken only upon proof of loyalty to the government at the time it was removed.

Mr. Stevens Is a Silent Candidate.

Albany, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—Some time ago the Democratic Club of Dougherty county sent Hon. O. B. Stevens, congressional candidate, an invitation to address the club on the political issues of the day. The club received Mr. Stevens's reply today, in the form of a declination, alleging that his reason for so doing was a wish to avoid further complications in the politics of the district. The tone of Mr. Stevens's letter breathes a fear that the invitation was extended him as a sort of trap by which he might be placed at a disadvantage. Mr. Stevens seems to merit the appellation which has been bestowed upon him as "the silent candidata." So far his candidacy has been a still hunt without any speech making whatever. Mr. Stevens Is a Silent Candidate.

FACE DISFIGURED

Painful, Disfiguring Skin Disease-Every Known Remedy Fails-Cured in One Month by Cutioura

Some time the last of last November I had some skin disease in my face. It grew very fast, and about the last of December it became so painful and was very disfiguring, and I had tried everything that I knew, but all to no effect. My face grew worse instead of better. After trying every known remedy I ordered a box of CUTICURA REMMINES from you, and began to use it, and in one month my face was well and as smooth as ever. I have used it for old sores and find it to be good in all cases I have used it, and would not be without it. I do not think the CUTICURA can be recommended too highly. CUTICURA is good for everything I ever knew it used for. It is good for all it is recommended for.

THE OLD OR THE NEW?

The New Executive Committee Didn't Ring Out the Old Ye:terday.

MR. BROWN AND MR. HOWELL WITHDRAW Seating as Their Reasons That the Committee Did Not Come Into Existence

The democracy of Fulton county is now ronted by a puzzling dilemma. Two democratic executive committees are trying to run the machinery of the grand ad party in the good county of Fulton and the question is, which has the right to run hings?

It's a question for the future.

Yesterday the new committee appointed Mr. Albert H. Cox, chairman of that aturday mass meeting, met and organized. Mr. Walter R. Brown, who was appoint d on Mr. Cox's new committee, and who hairman of the old executive committee was present, but withdrew from the meeting on the ground that the new committee or legitimate methods, being elected at a mass meeting not called for that purpose.

Mr. Albert Howell, Jr., one of the new itteemen, also withdrew on the same

This left the new committee without a quorum. With commendable industry some of the members of the committee went out and got up enough proxies to complete the porum and things went ahead.

Mr. Brown Goes Out. The meeting of the new committee was at noon. There were present Arnold Broyles, Walter R. Brown, W. K. Booth, Morris Brandon, Isaac Guthman, Hooper Alexander, Harvey Johnson, Clarence Moore, F. H. Richardson, Albert Howell, Jr., Jacob Haas, Thomas Moore, G. R.

Proxies were held by W. H. Black for Ir. T. B. Neal, Mr. N. R. Broyles for Ir. G. A. Cabaniss, C. H. Wilcox.

Mr. Hooper Alexander was nominated or chairman by Mr. F. H. Richardson.
Mr. Alexander said that there were other ars whom he would prefer as chairman before himself. He mentioned the name of Mr. Walter R. Brown in this connection.
Mr. Brown said that he did not wish the position. He would explain his reasons

Mr. Morris Brandon was then made chairs ann on motion of Mr. Richardson. Mr. C. E. Moore was made secretary. Mr. Brandon stepped forward and assumed the duties of chairman, stating that committee came into existence in a regin "I want to explain," said Mr. Walter R. Brown, "my position in this matter. I do not intend to impugn the purity of motives of any gentleman of this committee, or of Mr. Cox who appointed it—not at all. I have the highest regard for Mr. Cox personally and would like to see him honored with the United States senatorship. The the purpose of electing a new executive com-mittee. The custom has always been to name a new executive at the mass meeting called to elect gubernatorial delegates. In the confusion of Saturday's meeting this custom was forgotten. The committee says it will not recognize the authority of the new. I think it the best policy for this committee to adjourn until the next mass meeting in held, and let a committee be appointed through the regular way. Otherwise there will be disension among democrats.

"The committee of which I am chairman is the recognized committee, I consider. Believing this I cannot serve on this com-Mr. Brown withdrew from the meeting at the conclusion of his speech.

Mr. Alexander's Resolution. Mr. Hooper Alexander said he was convinced that the new committee was legal and regular. He believed in proceeding to an organization. He offered the following

"Resolved, That the commttee accepts Its commission from the democracy of the county as a declaration that hereafter the people of this county demand a fair primary for registered voters in accordance with party usage in all cases where there is a contest."

Mr. Albert Howell arose and after a short talk withdrew from the committee. A cut-and-dried scheme was to be put through, he said, and he was opposed for several reasons to serving on the committee. There was not a quorum present and the meeting of Saturday was called for one specific purpose and not to create a new executive committee. It was a departure from long established custom and as he did not believe the committee legal, he could not serve on it. This left the committee without a quo-

Mr. Morris Brandon wanted to go ahead 18 soon as a quorum could be had. One or two members went out and hunted up enough proxies to make a quorum.

up again.
Mr. Brandon opposed it.
Mr. W. K. Booth said he was opposed to It because it was a reflection upon the old

Mr. G. R. DeSaussure opposed it.

With these dissenting votes it was passed.

The resignation of Mr. Harwell was accepted. He was appointed from Adamsville district.

The committee then adjourned to meet at the same place Saturday morning.

What Will Be Done? Now what are the democrats of Fulton going to do with both these committees?

Clearly both of them cannot run the machinery of the party without some serious conflict.

Conflict.
Both committees will insist upon holding on and as a natural consequence things will be mixed.

the Ensuing Year.

The annual election of officers and directors of the Young Men's Library Association was held at the library yesterday from 2 to 7 o'clock p. m.

There was no opposition to the regular nominees, and the following ticket was an annimously elected:

President—F. H. Richardson.

Vice President—C. A. Read.

Treasurer—George R. DeSaussure.

Secretary—E. M. Mitchell.

Directors—A. V. Gude, W. M. Slaton,

A. A. Meyer and Arnold Broyles.

Death of Daniel Schuffman. Huntsville, Ala., May 17.—(Special.)—Daniel Schuffman, a leading Jewish citizen, died here yesterday, after one week's ilhess, leaving a large connection. The funeral this afternoon was one of the largest ever seen here.

It is not theory but fact—that Hood's Sarsa-parilla makes the weak strong. A fair trial will convince you of its merit.

But Veterans of the Gray Receive Him and Have Him to Speak.

The veterans held a rousing meeting at their hall Tuesday night.

Good fellowship and exuberant spirits characterized the gathering of the old surviving heroes of the late struggle.

Dr. J. William Jones, Major H. Franklin Starke and Captain George B. Forbes were appointed as delegates to attend the unveiling of the A. P. Hill monument, which event occurs in Richmond on May 31st. Other delegates will probably be appointed. Rev. N. B. Hogan, now a Baptist minister, from Missouri, and who fought in the Eleventh Alabama, was present, and made a good talk. He came to Atlanta to attend the Baptist convention and remained over for a few weeks' stay for the benefit of his health.

for a few weeks' stay for the benefit of his health.

Dr. Hayden, of Texas, who was in the campaign through Georgia and about Atlanta, and who saw the Forty-second Georgia capture DeGress's battery, was also present, and gave a fine talk.

The Soldiers' Home came up and was talked about. Apropos of this subject the case of an old weteran, named Duffy, came up. He is an old man, unable to work and who has been kept up by contributions from the veterans for many months.

Yesterday he was sent to the poorhouse—nowhere else to go. This case is a strong argument why the home should be accepted, and so the speakers who discussed the matter argued. The poor old veteran, who fought for his country and who came down to his end without family to support him and in the direst poverty is—disowned.

After the meeting had adjourned it became known that a gentleman named Riley, a known that a gentleman named Riley, a delegate to the Brotherhood of Locomotive delegate to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' convention, and a veteran who wore the blue, was in the audience. It was also learned that he was in the fights around Atlanta. He was given a hearty welcome and was introduced to all the boys who wore the gray. He made a short talk, which was well received.

Atlanta is to have another bank with a apital of $250,000 a. one result of the Scotch-Irish congress

A gentleman in this city has a letter from A gentleman in this city has a letter from a gentleman in Pittaburg saying that delegates who returned from the Scotch-Irish congress are so enthusiastic over Atlanta that they have determined to invest some of their money here. The letter states that they are organizing a national bank for Atlanta with a capital of $250,000, and $115,000 of this had been subscribed at the date of the letter, and the rest would probably be raised within a few days.

This bank will, of course, have Atlanta gentlemen connected with it, and it is expected to be in operation within a few months.

The same gentleman who gave this information says he is advised that another visitor at the Scotch-Irish congress will invest a very large sum in Atlanta, possibly $1,000,000.

What Dr. Broadus Said.

Pditor Constitution—In this morning's paper appears a card from Dr. B. J. Keiley, who refers to certain utterances in the Baptist convention. He quotes from the published report of the proceedings, and I notice one quotation in which there was an error in the printed copy of the report. This sentence is quoted from Dr. John A. Broadus:

"I thank God that from Rome when the

Dr. John A. Broadus:

"I thank God that from Rome when the corruption of Catholicism was beginning there was not enough of Christianity to send missionaries to England to preach the gospel to our heathen ancestors."

This is correct, with the exception of one word, and that word, "not," was not used by Dr. Broadus. The sentence as I wrote it in the report was this:

"I thank God that from Rome, when the corruption of Catholicism was beginning, there was enough Christianity to send missionaries to England to preach the gospel to my heathen ancestors."

I don't know that this will make the sentence appear very different from Dr. Keiley's point of view, for the part which is offensive to him appears to be the reference to "corruption of Catholicism." I am not discussing that, but simply for the sake of accuracy I make the above correction while the subject is up. I noticed the error at the time and intended to correctit in the next day's report, but in the rush of work, when I was writing four or five columns a day, and working till 12 or 1 o'clock at night, the intended correction slipped my memory. The other quotations, to the best of my knowledge and belief, are correct. W. G. COOPER.

Must be avoided, or you buy at your own risk—anything purporting to be Doctor Pierce's medicines, sold by unauthorized dealers at less than the regular prices. You risk the getting of old bottles refilled, dilutions of the genuine medicines, imitations, and substitutes.

To prevent all this, and to protect the public from fraud and imposition, the genuine guaranteed medicines of Dr. R. V. Pierce are now sold only through druggists, regularly authorized as agents, and at the following long-established prices:

Golden Medical Discovery (for Liver, Blood and Lung Diseases), $1.00. Favorite Prescription (for woman's weaknesses and ailments), $1.00. Pleasant Pellets (for the liver), 25 cents. Comp. Ext. Smart-Weed, 50 cents. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, 50 cents. Dr. Pierce's remedies are the cheapest you can buy, for you pay only for the good you get. They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or you have your money back.

FOR SALE Monday, May 23d.

At 12 O'clock, on the Premises,

Between Pryor and Loyd Sts.

Here is a central lot, adjoining the one upon which will soon be erected a grand telephone exchange building that will be the pride of Atlanta. This part of our prosperous and growing city has been attracting capitalists for the past several years, yet but little of this kind of property is ever upon the market. Lots so very suitable for almost any kind of improvement, right at the depot, and Whitehall and Pryor streets, are very hard to buy.

Now Is Your Chance to buy where your money will forever enhance in value. The building up of the corner of Mitchell and Pryor streets this summer will enhance the real value of this lot at least 25 per cent. Good central real estate enhances annually in this city. No man ever makes a mistake in placing his money in real estate properly located in Atlanta, but the majority of those who buy get rich. Then attend this sale and back your own judgment. Examine the location, calculate its many values and you are bound to buy. Central real estate is never upon the market except from necessity, and you must buy when the opportunity is offered or not at all. Such property may not be upon the market again in ten years. Right now is the time to put your funds up and take this lot. Terms, one-third cash, balance on time.

at half-past 4 o'clock. This very desirable central lot is 60 by 140 feet, with a 7-room framed house upon it. 'Tis one of the most prominent and valuable corners in this section of Atlanta, and right at the capitol of the state. It would be a splendid location for a first-class family hotel, which is very much needed in this part of the city. In fact, stores or any other building would prove a paying investment on this spot. There is not a corner south of the Georgia railroad where so many people pass daily. You cannot make a mistake in putting your money in real estate so favorably located and so near the center. It enhances every 90 days, and its topography is such that the value is bound to greatly enhance. Just look how many streets bear upon this prominent corner. Where the masses pass daily property continues to grow in value and demand. Examine this lot and be at the sale. Titles all right. Terms, 1-3 cash, balance 6 and 12 months.

Sox105 Feet. The Old "S seen Hotel, Occupied by Scarratt, at Auction,
Today at 11 1A. M.

This lot fronts three streets—Broad, Luckie and Peachtree. Forsyth street on the west is filling up with business houses. The Phillips, Loyd and Alexander properties must soon be the sites of business blocks. Luckie from Broad to Forsyth will be a first-class business street in a few years. Broad street property equals the best in the city and five and tenstory buildings, hotels, stores, store-flats will go up in the Healy, Grant, Wyly and other lots between Luckie and Marietta, and the new Collier hotel, the "Arragon," the magnificent new theater, Griffin block, north of this corner, are but the beginning of what is soon to follow. At no distant day the plain one and two-story buildings from the Methodist church on Peachtree all the way down to Wheat, in front of this corner, will give way to costily elegant blocks, and North Pryor street, on the east, is showing itself up as a coming business street.

So whether you look north, south, east or west, this Saaseen-Scarratt corner, to be sold May 18th at 11 a. m., is at the central point of present actual business and of all prospective development and the business north side. Such corners are rarely offered and they are hard to get. Capitalists know this. Mr. Lynch secured the Sheehan corner on Decatur street at $1,230 per front foot, Captain Grant bought the Loyd and Decatur street at $1,250 per front foot, Taptain English bought the Seltzer corner, on Broad street, at $1,300 per front foot, Captain Grant bought the Loyd and Decatur street at $1,250 per front foot, the market for at least a generation. So it will be with this lot at the corner of Broad and Luckié, at the junction with Peachtree. It is very choice, and its future value will be very great.

THIS PAPER CONTAINS 10 PAGES.

ATLANTA, GA., May 18, 1892.

The Duty of Georgia Democrats. There was a significant paragraph in the dispatch which we printed yesterday from Des Moines, Ia.. It gives the cue for southern action at Chicago, and the spirit of it is in accord with the attitude of the most prominent democratic leaders at the south. The paragraph to which we refer is as follows:

"The action of the South Carolina primaries, showing that Cleveland failed to carry that state, has created considerable excitement here, and is accepted as indicative that Georgia and other powerful southern states will pursue the same programme, and thus be in a position to dictate the nomination at Chicago."

The significance of this lies in the recognition of the fact that the whirligin of time has at last placed the south in a position to make its voice heard and its influence powerfully felt in the councils of the national democracy. The south has neither the intention nor the desire to dictate the nomination at Chicago, but her representatives will be true to neither the traditions of this section, nor to the the necessities of the present hour if they fail to take advantage of so favorable an occasion to restore to the south something of its old-time prestige and influ-

For years the representatives of the south have been compelled to sit on the back seats of the party conventions with their fingers in their mouths, and see the chances of the democracy thrown away in deference to the whims of democratic delegates from the republican states. They have felt that it would hamper the party for them to take an active part in the deliberations of the conventions, or to assume a position which would enable them to act as arbiters in naming candidates or in outlining party programmer.

There is no longer any reason why such a feeling should exist. Indeed, at this juncture, every suggestion of duty, as well as of propriety, urges the south to set its face at Chicago against every movement which is not in the interest of democratic success. The southern states have an opportunity to regain in a great but to do the party a most important service. In this matter, Georgia, as the leading southern state, should take a firm and an unyielding position, and should insist on a programme which recognizes, first, the welfare of the party and afterwards the so-called claims of candidates.

Those who insist that any candidate has claims on the party superior to the welfare of the party itself do not deserve to be listened to with patience, much less with consideration. Men are of an hourtheir days are brief and fleeting: they are feeble, faltering, changeable. The democratic party came in with the republic. and its mission will not be closed until the republic itself, surrendering to the "claims" of some man, ceases to exist. At the present moment the claims of no candidate are worthy of a moment's consideration except in so far as they represent the necessity of democratic success, yet the convention will be urged to place the state of Georgia in the procession that proposes to carry the democracy to defeat and disaster.

With the most available man whose name can be mentioned at this moment the result is not by any means certain. A few months ago, democratic success seemed inevitable-it seemed to grow naturally out of a more than hopeful condition of affairs; but the situation has been greatly changed. The vicious and unnecessary controversy over candidates -the bitter and scandalous attacks on democrats by democrats—the unseemly attack on the party organization in New York by an irresponsible element professing to represent Mr. Cleveland-all these things have gone far to change the situation and to cloud it. But one thing is certain at this time, and that is that the democratic party is not to have a walkover. The demands of twenty-five states have been ignored by the failure of the democratic house to pass a free coinage bill. What effect this will have in the agricultural states remains to be seen, but we may be sure that the fallure will be resented to some extent.

Let the democratic convention of Georgia face the facts and profit by them. While the outlook is not as hopeful as it might be it is not by any means hopeless. The Georgia democrats, in a large measure, have the responsibility of the stion on their shoulders. By surrenering to the so-called claims of a candidate who cannot carry his own state, they can give an artificial impetus to the movement sure to lead the party to disaster. On the other hand, by giving emphasis to a desire for party success which is a vital matter so far as the south is concerned—they may be able to restore reason even to those who "prefer defeat with Cleveland to success with any other man."

Let Georgia range herself with the phalanx of south Atlantic states which act today and tomorrow. It is settled that Virginia, which acts tomorrow, will send an anti-Cleveland delegation to Chicago; so will the two Carolinas, which act today. Let Georgia join this group of states, and stand for the man who, at this functure, can lead the party to success, no matter whom he may be.

The Same Old Tragedy. Whisky went in and wit went out The two friends quarreled, and rough words and rough blows followed. But this was nothing new, and nobody looked for anything serious. In fact, it was doubtful whether the young men were in earnest.

A little later, one of the parties, after brief absence, reappeared with a pistol. Making some excited remark, he rushed forward and fired a fatal shot. Arrest, trial, conviction, sentence-all in a few weeks. Then, the youthful prisoner began to think it all out.

In the long hot days he brooded in his cell. "But for that pistol," he said, "It would not have happened." The whisky was bad enough, and so was the quarrel, but the pistol-that had done the deadly work. In the gloomy nights he sat on his cot and tried to think. No matter how he reasoned, he always came back to the same point, "If I had remained unarmed -without a pistol-there would have been no killing."

What had caused him to shoot his friend? He did not know, but whenever he asked himself the question he recollected that he had a pistol, and some impulse promped him to use it.

It is a very common story in this land of ristol toters. Men drink and abuse each other and tussle every day, without injury; they are unarmed. And men drink and quarrel every day and murder is done; they have pistols in their pockets. No wonder the concemned man in his waking hours and in his dreams finds himself always thinking of that pistol. It is an ever-present danger in America, north and south, in town and country-everywhere. Put a drink behind it, and it seeks a human target, and the tragedy is complete, whether the gallows follows "He had a pistol"—that explains it all.

After Thirty Years. An old debt is never hopeless so long as the debtor and his children are alive. The other day the old residents of Richmond were surprised by the publication of the following advertisement:

Currency issued by my father, Emanuel semon, thirty years ago, will be redeemed with interest to date on presentation at my The advertisement was signed by J. S. Semon, and the facts of the case are these: During the war, some thirty years ago, many Richmond merchants issued shinplasters. Old man Semon put out per-hans a million dollars in this sort of paper, and at the close of the war a good deal of it was still unredeemed. The action of young Semon in offering at this late day to redeem remark of The Richmond Dispatch many years ago that a certain bill was as 'worthless as Semon's trash." This rankled in the breast of the young man until he finally decided to prove to the world that "Semon's trash" was good money. Thus far nobody has presented any of the currency for redemption, and a few holders say that they prefer to keep it as a curiosity. This remarkable case shows that it is well to preserve apparently worthless notes and evidences of debt. Some time, possibly, after the lapse of a generation, the debtor or his descendants may take a notion to pay up in full. The Richmond people who destroyed or gave away Semon's "trash" are doubtless wondering if confederate paper will not be the next thing redeemed.

Last Sunday at Fort Worth, Mr. W. H. Coffman, a traveling man, was informed by his wife that during bis absence Mr. Harry Robinson, another traveling man, had insulted and annoyed her. Now, Mr. Coffman is a cool, clear-headed man. He did not rush off and act hastily. On the contrary, he took his wife along and called at Robinson's boarding house. The offender was invited to the parlor, and was requested to apologize, When he refused, after a full statement of the facts, the shooting commenced, A minute settled the whole business, and when the smoke cleared away Robinson was dead and pretty well riddled, while Coffman had four slight wounds. Mrs. Coffman claims that she fired the fatai shot, but that is a matter of no consequence, as it does not affect the general result. Under the circumstances. the Coffmans are upheld by public sentiment and our advices state that probably no indictment will be found. There is room, of course, for the usual moralizing, but the social atmospher of Fort Worth has been purified as by a thunder storm, and everything will be serene, until the next fool of a masher nomes along.

Fulton's Crusade.

For several years the Rev. Justin D. Fulton has devoted bimself to a crusade against the Catholies.

He has traveled thousands of miles made numerous addresses, circulated countless documents, and presumably has not failed to take up a collection at every stopping place. In New York, the other night, Mr. Fulton predicted a great war in this country between Catholics and Protestants, and condemned the effort to enlist the pope's interest in the world's fair as an attempt to "Romanize the Columbian ex-

Mr. Fulton may be an agitator for reve nue only, but he should put on the brakes. His imbecile drivel makes people tired. The plain American citizens in charge of the Chicago fair never dreamed of Romanizing anything. They are strictly business. They want to make money for the big show and reputation for themselves. Nor is there any sane person who is thinking of a conflict between Catholics and Protestants. The people of this country may fight over economic, political and social differences, but they will never fight over religion.

Cranks like Fulton have no followers People are growing more tolerant in religlous matters. Men with different creeds pull together for progress. They help each other in enterprises for the good of all. They do not resent an occasional out break of bigotry. Extreme men on either side may say what they please. Nobody cares to argue with them.

The Americans run their business and their politics, as a rule, with the sole aim of making money and getting there. They are not thinking about Romanizing these matters, or giving them a Protestant twist. The fact is, in this selfish, greedy rushing age the majority of men have no time for religious differences, except on Sunday, and fortunately they know how to observe the Sabbath without too much unseemly wrangling.

An Iowa paper says of a peculiar craze re-ently started at Otsego: "Some fair women, vishing to stock the town library with books, and the streets offering men their lips to be kissed at 50 cents a smack. The rush soon assumed such preportions that the rush soon assumed such proportions that the price was doubled without diminishing the volume of trade. At first shocked and then infected, many others of the sex began doing all manner of equally extravagant things. The necessary fund was speedily raised, and the news of the achievement spread rapidly, with the result that no small town in Michigan is now safe from an attack of the Otsego

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gregory Lee, of Alabams, have had a decidedly unpleasant ex-perience in the national capital, according perience in the national capital, according to The Wastington 22th. They reached Washington on December 27th last with the laytention of doing newspaper and literary work. Finding no mark is for their productions they have been reduced to poverty and absolute want. Having more pride and nettle than is found in the ordinary human composition they have withheld their condition, hoping success would eventually crown their much exerted efforts. I'wo and three days at time have they gone suthout eating, during whi in time they were persistently laboring, writing letters for jubication in various large papers and soliciting reportorial work. Now that they have deciled to make known their condition they desire themselves used as an example to varn the venturesome of the world to never give up something at which they are earning a living to engage in a thing that 95 per cent of the most talented people we have fail at. No one will imagine for a moment that it is pleasant to publish such a state-ment as this, but mortifying in the extreme, and they are prompted by no other me than that their unsuccessful experiment nortification may serve to keep others from venturing inconsiderately into the hazardous field of letters. Prior to going there they wrote some letters over the pseudouym of "Lillian Leslie" that were published in an Alabama weekly, which flatterered them into the belief that there was gold and fame for them in the literary world.

That the book is the result of careful study there can be no doubt. But from one of Dr. Briggs's scholarly attainments it would be natural to expect a more pleasing and cogent presentation of the subject. We trust we will be pardoned for saying that the book appears to be a little incoherent in some parts and does not seem to quite escape from the shackles of the seminary training. It is taken that he has a broad field to cover in a comparatively limited space, but we could wish that he had more of the ease of style that characterises his fellow believer in the higher criticiam across the water—Dr. Henry Drummond. The chapters on the higher criticism and biblical history are those which will most interest the average reader. It is a book, however, which will require careful reading to fully understand and will have the misfortune to be regarded as too narrow by the An Available Man.

The madame's rendition of the music of Rubenstein and Mendelssohn was wonderful, her execution of the most difficult passages was perfect, and the expression given was certainly the very dream of the composer.

Amadeo did not give a single discordant note from list violin; his bow swept the strings, guided by a genius which will be world famed, the music evoked was a revelation of the violin as a perfect instrument. Thus far in all candor, now for the confession and suggestion.

It is sharply defined from the ordinary history of the world, which deals only with ture. It is sharply defined from the ordinary history of the world, which deals only with its peoples, its kingdoms and its civilisations. These find ardent students amongst all classes, but geology can hardly be considered popular even with those of liberal culture. This has always been a matter of surprise to me, and my conclusion was that, whilst the subject has often been handled by men of learning and ability, it has never been illuminated by the diction of a Plutarch, the eloquence of a Rollin, nor the versatility of a Macaulay.

From The Chicago Herald.

The democracy in its idolstry of Cieveland is venturing into dangerous waters. Its disposition to recognize no other leader shows that its vision is impaired, and that it is drifting rapidly upon a rock-bound beach, already thickly strewn with the wreckage of political organizations which have fully opposed it in the past. Boles Would Suit the Democrats.

Horace Boles is an ideal democratic leader.

He represents his party on the tariff, currency and temperance issues with an accuracy no other aspirant can boast. If Henry Watter-son's advice is adopted, and the great west is allowed to name the democratic standard bearer, the Chicago convention cannot very well do better than to turn to Iowa's favorite son. "The Bible, the Church and the Reason," by Charles Augustus Briggs; Charles Scribner's Sons, New York; $1.75.

In view of the fact that Dr. Briggs is at present the central figure in the greatest church frial of the year, this book of his, written in vindication of his position, will prove extremely interesting to all who have time to follow the endless twistings of a church controversy. The high position occupied by Dr. Briggs in the field of oriental scholarship, and his prominence in the American branch of the achool of the higher criticism, entitle him to speak on this subject. He has done so, and as a result has brought about his ears the anathemas of the orthodox. Before the next general assembly of the Northern Prespiration church he will be tried for heresy, and the difference of opinion in that august body as to what constitutes heresy, mingled with some technical points as to the furisdiction of the church courts, makes the result extremely doubtful.

That the book is the result of careful study kinson's room at the Kimball, and seed on beds, on lounges and on chairs the members of the committee put their heads to gether and tried to arrive at some solution of the vexing problem. Nearly every member of the o was present. To Get Rooms.

The matter of preparing for today's covention was discussed at some length.

A committee, of which Mr. Tatum, of Dade, is chairman, was appointed to accure rooms at the capitol for the district cure rooms at the capitol for the district delegates to assemble in today to make their selection of delegates to attend the Chicago convention.

The campaign committee made its report. elling of the work that had been done to

The report stated that the democracy now had little to fear from the third party, Since the last meeting the third party has lost strength considerably, and its influence is on the wane.

That become District Roy.

That Second District Row. Hon. O. B. Stevens, of Terrell, one the democratic candidates for congress in the second district, went before the committee with a hard nut for it to crack.
It was the second district trouble.

Mr. Stevens stated that the district was now threatened by two democratic conventions and he would like the committee to settle the trouble by a decision at once.

The newspapers in the tenth district have had many pleasant things to say about Boykin Wright and his work as solicitor general. The Augusta News, speaking of the grand jury's action endorsing him, said:

"The grand jury of Richmond county in their general presentments make the following reference to Boykin Wright:

"Learning that the term of office of Solicitor General Boykin Wright will expire with the present year we express the hope that he will be his own successor. His administration has been so able, so clean and satisfactory that we feel we but voice the sentiment of the people of Richmond county and entire circuit in saying that it would be a real loss to the public service not to have him retained in office.

"As a solicitor general, there is not in the state a superior to Mr. Wright. He is able, impartial and fearless. Courtly in manner and public spirited as a citizen, he is without fear and without reproach in the discharge of the duties of his office.

"The talent, experience and character of Solicitor General Wright should leave him the field without a competitor. It goes without saying, that Mr. Wright will succeed himself as the solicitor general of the Augusta circuit. The legislature cannot fail to re-elect him. His reputation and popularity throughout the state Insure his success." The trouble came about in this way: The congressional democratic executive committee met some weeks ago and after fixing it yardstick, set July 30th as the date for all counties in the district to select delegates to the congressional convention.

At first this seemed all right, and no trouble was anticipated. But it was not long before the county democratic executives of the district becaut to protest against such action. They declared that the congressional committee had nothing to do with naming the date for the counties unty executive committees to se Yesterday Described with All Its Busy, Exciting Scenes.

MEVELAND MEN GROW WEAK TOO SOON.

They Resort to Men Who Favor an Uninstructed Delegation for Their Delegates.

Uninstructed-

The word passed all down the line of Georgia's representatives yesterday from morn till midnight. And an overwhelming anti-Cleveland sentiment it bespeaks!

A red-hot day was yesterday in Georgia politics. All day long the delegates to the state convention which meets today poured into Atlanta on every train. From every region of the state they came.

There was the old man whose looks are whitened with the frosts from the almond tree and the young man fresh from textbook and study, with heart beating to be hurled into the great battles of life and fight them well for his country's

The farmer was there eager to see democracy, so often the panacea for his country's ills, do that which will check the aggression of third partyism in this, their proud old state. The merchant was there to clamor for relief in mutual sympathy with the farmer. Doctors, lawyers, teachers and even preachers were in the great throng of noisy politicians that gathered in the hotels and about the streets all day chattering away like a busy flock of ricebirds.

From the mountains to the sea the state seemed drained of its political leaders. They were all in Atlanta-and most of them within the confines of the Kimball house corridors until midnight.

The eve of Waterloo could not have found a more excited nor a more anxious concourse of men than were these. Occasionally there would be some joking, some merriment: but as a rule men wore grave faces. Of course, the political rhymester was on hand and occasioned some laughter with such as this:

They musn't go for Cleveland, They mustn't go for Hill; We'll send 'em uninstructed,

We will-that's what-we will!

But the great mind of the multitudes grave and deliberative for the thought would come up that never in the history of Georgia was there a sterner call for sober-minded, conservative action than confronts every man of this state convention.

Doings of the Day. In brief here is what the politicians did yesterday: Talked politics in the hotel corridors all day-the majority expressing themselves in no uncertain tones as anti-Cleveland. for party success and for an uninstructed delegation. At night there were two caucuses-one called by the leaders who have heretofore been conducting a campaign for Cleveland straightout; the other by the anti-Cleveland men, or the men who favor sending an uninstructed delegation.

The Cleveland caucus will nominate Hon. Pope Barrow as temporary and permanent This same caucus will urge the names of Dupont Guerry, Fleming duBig-non, F. H. Richardson and James M. Smith, creating much surprise in selecting Messrs. duBignon and James M. Smith, since they are both recognized as men who have not affiliated with the Cleveland forces, who are not straight Cleveland men but who are not straight Cleveland men but who are for the most available man, and for an uninstructed delegation.

In the Cleveland caucus Mr. duBignon, who was absent, was quoted as saying he would vote for Cleveland first, last and all the time if sent to Chicago, but when seen just before midnight he stated that this was calculated to migraphesent him year, grayely. calculated to misrepresent him very gravely, "While I would have nothing against Mr.

I will refuse the eletion. I want Geor-are instructed to go pledged to vote for him, I will refuse the eletion. I want Georgia's delegation to go free to vote for the most available candidate."

It is considered very certain that the anti-Cleveland caucus this morning will have the names of Colonel Smith and Mr. duBiguon on their slate, showing with what faith they go with the men who seek to send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago.

The Cleveland men are thus shown to have grown weak in the knees before the convention was even convoked in assembly. They have been flaunting banners bearing the words, "Cleveland Headquarters," to the breezes for two days. Their vorgans have had double-leaded editorials clamoring for straightout Cleveland delegates, and all of a sudden they go to the ranks of those who favor an uninstructed delegation to get their nominees for the state at large.

It is too plain that the great mass of the convention wants an uninstructed delegation, and the Cleveland men are crawfishing out of the arms of the "stuffed prophet" already.

The caucus of anti-Cleveland men, after a

The Caucus Called. Last night it was expected that the Cleve-land men would cancus. It was also known that the anti-Cleveland, or those who favor an uninstructed delegation pledged to no one man, would caucus.

About 8 o'clock Mr. Hoke Smith, standing upon the steps in the Kimball house, announced that all those who approve instructing for Cleveland would caucus in the breakfast room.

"I want to say," he continued, "that all those who oppose Mr. Hill whomsoever they may favor are invited to meet with the Cleveland caucus."

This came in the nature of a surprise to the people in the corridors, who had looked upon the "Cleveland" men as "Cleveland"

"What's that:" exclaimed several voices. "Are you weakening so much as to let every body whose minds ain't made up into your There was also some laughter.

Then Captain Tom Lyon, of Cartersville, standing on the first floor corridor, looked down into the lobby and said: "All who favor sending an uninstructed delegation to Chicago are invited to meet in the ballroom of the Kimball house, where 'measures, not men,' is the watchword." Thundering applause shook the very founda-tion of the Kimball, and men shouted, "We will be there with both feet, Tom." Then there was a rush, a sort of stamped for the stairs. The delegates and lookers-on fairly fell over each other in their desire to

Hon. Tom Grimes, of Columbus, made chairman of the caucus, and Mr. of Jonesboro, secretary. Calls for "Robertson" brought Hon, J. W. Robertson, of Habersham, to his feet, and he addressed the caucus with great zeal for the party, and with earnest peals that they stand together with pru-dence and wisdom, that they might overthrow republicanism and its sectional pol-

Then calls were made for Senator Colquitt, who likewise made a strong and eloquent appeal that democrats should go cautiously about the work of this convention. He showed how a candidate pro-nounced in his views against financial reform would drive southern democrats out of the party into the third party. He warned Georgians of the danger of open-ing an inroad for the repetition of recontruction days. His speech was loudly applauded time and time again. Then the caucus of cautious democrats went to work in dead earnest.

It was moved and carried that Hon.

J. W. Robertson, formerly a member of the state railroad commission of Georgia, should be supported as chairman, temporary and permanent, at the state convention This appointment was unanimous and caught general applause. It was then unanimously decided that Hon. W. A. Harris—"Bill Harris, of Worth," as he is known all over Georgiabe nominated as secretary with Hon. Mark Hardin as assistant secretary.

The question of whether or not the caucus would go further and decide upon the four delegates from the state at large at that session or postpone it until today at a meeting to be held before the convention a meeting to be held before the convention assembles was sprung. It was urged by many of the members present that since many of the friendly delegates would not arrive in Atlanta until today that the selection of delegates from the state at large on an uninstructed platform should be postponed until this morning's caucus.

There was some debate on this question, but it was finally decided to adjourn and select the delegates at this morning's sessiou.

The caucus of men who favor sending an uninstructed delegation will meet again this morning on very important business, therefore, in the Kimball house ballroom.

THE CLEVELAND MEN.

They Have a Very Lively Time of It. What They Did.

The Cleveland caucus last night was one long-continued, go-as-you-please row.

Everybody participated, and the Marquis of Queensbury rules were thrown to the winds while the boys shucked their coats and fought and howled

A committee was appointed to select business for the meeting, during which time the delegates looked blank and their faces seemed to inquire—"what are we here for?"

Mr. Dupont Guerry, of Macon, Mr. F. H. Richardson and R. W. Patterson, of Macon, enlightened them on this subject.

A committee to name delegates at large to Chicago was appolated. Mr. Hoke Smith was made chairman of this committee. The committee retired, while the orators held the attention of those present.

About 10 o'clock after much travail and tribulation the committee returned.

The committee reported the name of Hon. Pope Barrow for temporary and permanent chairman of today's convention. Mr. Barrow's name was received with cheers and was carried through with a whoop.

Then the committee reported the following names for delegates from the state at large to the Chicago convention: Dupont Gnerry, of Macon; F. G. dullignon, of Savannan; F. H. Richardson, of Atlanta; James M. Smith, of Oglethorpe. The Committee Returns.

Mr. Hoke Smith was the first man to speak on this report. He was afraid of dulliguon and Smith. He believed they were Hill men. He was unwilling to have them placed on the delegation uniess absolutely certain that they were right. He wanted a committee appointed to investigate how they stood on the matter.

Mr. Harvey Johnson, too, was afraid of Hon. James M. Smith's adherence to Cleveland. Mr. Johnson showed that he was considerably excited on the subject.

There was applause and there were hisses. The whole house was in a perfect turmoil and overybody was standing up and trying to speak.

A Mr. Gibson, from Jones county, sitting beside Mr. Johnson, saw the reporters taking this speech and he sprang up with blood in his eye. "There are reporters here, sir." he yelled in wild alarm, "they are putting down what Mr. Fleming is saying. They are putting down everything that is done. Put 'em out! Make 'em tear up their notes! Til put 'em out."

He acted in the most disorderly manner and started toward the reporters to tear up their notes himself.

"Put 'em out," said four or five others.

The chairman rapped for order, but discord reigned. Nothing could be heard.

The reporters' lives were in imminent danger for several minutes as Frank Flynt, of Griffin; Gibson, of Jones, and Johnson, of Fulton, seemed about to lead an attack upon them. Finally order was restored. The attack upon the reporters seemed to change the current of the meeting, and several protests were made against Mr. Smith's plan for bringing the good

Colonel Felix Corput, of Floyd, stated that the claim that his county's delegation is for Cleveland is a huge error. "Our party has no business to take up a man who will cause a big defection in its ranks. We want a man who can win."

Major W. L. Glessner, of Americus, who was chatting with Colonel Corput agreed with him. "Cleveland would send a host of farmers into the third party. The third party would not win but the republicans might.'

Hon. Price Gilbert, of Columbus, came in yesterday afternoon. He is not a delegate, but was a member of the Hill executive committee which swept Muscogee in the fight at the primaries.

Hon, Bob Lewis, of Hancock, was another candidate for solicitor general. He is also a delegate and an anti-Cleveland one, too, in earnest.

T. D. Rockwell, of Savannah, came up yesterday. He led the anti-Cleveland forces in Chatham's mass meeting Monday "Our fight was a peculiar one," h stated. Fifty men, perhaps, said "aye."
"Mr. duBignon is nominated," the chairman announced.

Two or three men addressed the chair.

"Why don't you put the negative side on Mr. duBignon's name?" they yelled.

The chairman paid no heed to them. He went on putting the name of Mr. Richardson. It was carried, both the negative and affirmative being put. went on putting the name of Mr. Richardson. It was carried, both the negative and affirmative being put.

Then came the name of Hon. James M. Smith—the last—the farmer,

The name of Congressman Henry G. Turner was presented. It was received with cheers. Things looked squally for Mr. Smith.

THE NEW YORK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The stock market boday suffered somewhat from sales by London, which encouraged sales for short account on the part of the local bear element, but as a rule the general list continues to display a rising tendency and a few material gains were seen. Union Pacific and Northern Pacific preferred were weak points, especially during the foreign selling, but the latter fell, while the former rose only a slight fraction. The opening of the market was made on a very moderate volume of business and at irregular changes from last night's figures, though the declines were in the majority. A few leading stocks monopolized all the interest taken in the dealings and the strictly professional character of the market was never more apparent than today. The fluctuations of a majority of the list were without special significance today and the waiting attitude of the operators only had the usual effect of inducing short sales by traders and consequently lower prices in such stocks as they found most vulnerable. The decline in Union Pacific in the forenoon reached 2 1-2 per cent and later in the day Missouri Pacific, which had remained very quiet and without material change was attacked and driven down mearly 2 pec cent. Other stocks foll-wed and Manhattan, Louisville and Rock Island were depressed in turn. One bright spot in the market was Omaha stocks which were advanced and though Sugar recovered a portion of its late loss, the market closed quiet but rather heavy after a fractional rally in the last few minutes' trading. The final losses of note comprise Union Pacific 2 1-2, Chicago Gas 5, Manhattan 1 3-8, Missouri Facific and Louisville each 1 1-8, and Rock Island Louisville each 1 1-8, and

NEW YORK, May 17.—The London market was a seller of stocks, but outside of selling a little Louisville and Nashville their operainsignificant. The market was was a seller of stocks, but outside of selling a little Loulsville and Nashville their operations were insignificant. The market was very dull during the morning session. Richmond Terminal opened nearly a point off on the acknowledgment by the Olcott committee of the failure of their plan of reorganization, but we understand that another plan is to be submitted for the old one and that an assessment is to be levied on the junior securities. The amount is, of course, at present guess work, but it is probable that at least $10 a share will be asked for. The weak spot in today's market was Union Pacific. Mr. Cammack was after it all day but the selling was, no doubt, for Mr. Gould's account. The opposition party is long of a great deal of the stock, but it is natural that Gould will make it as hot for them as he possibly can. Some long stock was said today, but the big holders, that is the European party, have not yet been shaken out. The bears are beginning to falk of a receivership for the road, saving they possess little or no securities on which they can borrow more money when required, and people think the property will be a loser rather than a gainer under the present management. The stock may rally but as we have been saying for weeks, it will sell lower. The April statement, which comes out shortly, will also make a poor showing. Missourifaction so as to help along bear operators. The market closes within a fraction of the lowest. The only stock which showed any perceptible rally was Missouri Pacific preferred, which the bears bought all day. We still believe in selling stocks whenever they rally.

NEW YORK, May 17.—An advance of from 2-64 to 3-64 in futures in Liverpool this morn-ing rather surprised the trade here and shock-ed the bearish sentiment generally existing. Our cables say that the advance is due partialed the bearish sentiment generally existing. Our cables say that the advance is due partially to a slow improvement in the trade demand, but mainly to the publication in The London Times of dispatches advising very serious damage to the cotton crop from the Mississippi floods. Our own advices hardly confirm this idea. The river is reported to be falling at St. Louis and nearly all the serious breaks in the levee system seem to be north of the cotton country. The single important exception is the break yesterday reported at Bonnet Carre, which seems to have affected the sugar plantations almost exclusively. In Illinois, Missouri and the northern part of Arkansas serious damage and widespread floods are reported, but water is falling at St. Louis, and its distribution over so wide a northern area will probably render unlikely any serious inundation in the cotton country. The Arkansas river is rising, and may, perhaps, damage that portion of the cotton belt through which it flows. In our own market opening prices were about 5 to 6 points higher than those of yesterday, and no substantial change in quotations had been recorded up to 1 o'clock. August, which continues the most active, has fluctuated within a limit of aloug 2 points. The advance seems to have been entirely in sympathy with the improvement abroad, and has not developed any fresh demand. Experience has taught most traders here to be extremely skeptical of any serious damage 'rom overflows so early in the season.

NEW YORK, May 17—Liverpool this morning sent us uniformly encouraging cables, the drift of which was that the prospects pointed to an improved trade demand. One of our friends claimed that he looked was that the prospects pointed to an improved trade demand. One of our friends claimed that he looked for large sales of actual cotton in the near future. Under this impetus our market opened better, advancing some 5 to 5 points en the call and further going a few points more in the course of the day. The business continues exceedingly light and almost featureless. There was some little southern buying, but outside of this the demand was nominal, and any fair sized order, one way or the other, would have made a change in values. The whole position responds to any extensive business that comes into the market for execution. The roports from the south show no change, though we have a message late this evening from Texas saying the nights are cool, but ample rains have fallen, and the outlook there seems favorable. Prices hold very steady, and the position shows nothing discouraging so that in the absence of any unfavorable news prices should certainly be maintained if they do not advance.

CHICAGO, May 17.—One of our customers has written the market letter today, and here it is. "The present indications are that we will have favorable weather for wheat during the remainder of May. The astronomical situation is almost a certain guarantee of that fact. The hour of the change of the moon on the 19th instant indicates more rain. The weather will be cool and favorable for wheat but not for corn and cats. The growing wheat crop of America is now almost assured. With an increased acreage there is no doubt the crop will be nearly as great as that of year. With no unusual foreign demand caused by war, wheat may not sell above 55c during the year in this market. The market today has again displayed the usual feature, that of duldess.

mertment Bulletin of the Georgia Weather Service,

WING THE CONDITION OF CROPS,

How the Rain Has Been Distributed. ern Part of the State.

drought was broken by much needed The drought was broken by much needed nin at the beginning of the week. The rain, sille it fell in irregular showers and was not as copious at most points as could have been desired, yet was pretty general throughout the state, and has proved of incalculable benefit. Heavier rainfall occurred in the southern counties, where it was most needed. Great improvement is remarked in the fruit prospects and apparently there will be a full crop except in some northern counties. With the exception of oats and count there seems to have been little percomics. With the exception of oats and cotton there seems to have been little permanent injury yet done to crops by drought. Eren fall oats are not beyond remedy except in specially dry sections. The stands of cotton are somewhat poor in many the condition of crops in the northwest scion seems to be decidedly above the series. The rainfall in this section was bet and there is still need of more moist as Wheat, oats and corn are reported as a specially good condition. Bottom lands se nearly planted. On the uplands corn is sent worked out and cotton chopped. The reports from the northeast counties also favorable. Grain is in especially see condition. The chief complaint made is that cotton on stiff lands has a rather than the condition.

that cotton on still lands has a rather por stand. Oats are beginning to head in sume places but the crop is a little back-rand from the cold of the early spring and the dry weather which followed. In the western section the rainfall and appearance have been below the normal and crops are not growing very rapidly. Oats and wheat are reported by some as sightly damaged, while very favorable reports are received from others. Many fine howers occurred during the week but they were badly distributed and, while some reporters state that rain is badly needed, others report all crops to be in excellent condition.

The weather conditions have been excelput in the central portion of the state. Late cotton is being rapidly planted. Some damage was caused by hail, which fell at sereral points on the Sth. Oats are headed but are rather small from the long drought.
Where rain has fallen in sufficient amount all cops are picking up greatly. Oats, however, will hardly reach a full crop under the last conditions.

set, will hardly reach a 1011 crop under the bet conditions.

Encouraging reports are received from the majority of correspondents in the eastern section of the state. Since the rain of the early part of the week corn has regained is color, and other crops are immensely busefied. Gardens have revired and, are now in excellent condition. Sweet potato pants are just being set out. The fruit passects are good and some correspondents pedict a bountiful crop of peaches.

The copious rains which fell in the southwest section in the early part of the week lave greatly benefited all crops. The corn, plato, cotton, rice and melon crops have milied, and are now in fine condition. In some places the early out crop was damaged to such an extent before rain came as a render it a partial failure. The fruit passects are much improved and the present indications point towards a fair crop.

The light rains of the Sth, 9th and 10th have somewhat improved the general conditions of all crops in the southern counties. It is feared, however, that oats were previously injuried by drought almost beyond recembling, and the crop will therefore be small. Rice, cotton and peanuts are not yet up in some sections, while in others they are found fairly well. Light hail occurred in the vicinity of Pearson and Statenville, algorithm in the southeast section all crops, fruits and garden truck have been benefited by the light rains of the past week. Light hail occurred in several sections on the Sth, but very little damage was done. Oats are in very little damage

Reports from Correspondents.

Selected Reports from Correspondents.

Murray—Cotton has a good stand. Corn looks well; about done planting on bottom land. Good prospects for oats. Wheat is in fine condition. Fruit all right.

Cobb—All crops are very promising in this section. Cotton is being rapidly chopped; there is a good stand generally.

Campbell—The drought was broken by a shower on the 10th but its effects are apparently gone. Corn is doing better than any other crop. Stand of cotton is poor. Oats are almost beyond redemption. Gardens are poor, and peaches are dropping off.

Hall—The drought has injured corn and cotton. Wheat looks well, but oats are backward on account of dry weather. The lights are too cold for cotton. Fruit is mints are too cold for cotton. Fruit is scarce.

Eibert—Light rains throughout the county during the past week have been a great benefit to cotton and oats, not quite enough for oats. Wheat, oats, corn and cotton crops are in good condition and the outlook is promising. There is promise of an abundant peach crop.

Upson—There have been two showers here, one Saturday and one Monday night, which will help bring up the last cotton planted. The showers were apparently local. Oats and wheat are considerably cut off by the drought.

Stewart—On the 9th and 10th this county received fair rains over the most of it, but too late to be of much benefit to the oat crop. Farms ere well worked and the rain will give new impetus to everything.

Taylor—The cold nights and mornings are miurious to cotton but beneficial to wheat. It is dry in portions of the county and where this is true oats and corn are damaged.

Pulaski—Oats are in full head but they are small, and have been badly damaged by the drought. Cotton planting is about over; why planting shows a good stand, late poor. There are indications of a full peach crop; about half crop of apples and one-third of lears.

Dooly—Cotton chopping is under head-about half crop of apples and one-third of lears.

Dooly—Cotton chopping is under headway. Corn is looking better, and growing. Onto a coming out some but have been hadly injured by drought. Vegetables are looking better.

Hancock—Everything looks lively since the rain. Corn has a better color, but bud worms are killing lots of it. Cut worms are had on cotton in sandy lands. Oats are turning, and there will be a fair crop of fall oats, but poor yield of spring oats. Wheat looks poorly. Irish potatoes are backward and sweet potatoes are being cut out. Gardens look nicely.

Johnson—The rains of the 10th did much good. Fall oats have yet time to ripen and spring oats have come out and will make a half crop. Some farmers are not done planting cotton.

Baker—The fire rains of the 7th and 9th all crop. Some farmers are not done planting cotton.

Baker—The fine rains of the 7th and 9th were thankfully received. Crops look well and are in good growing condition. They are well worked up. The rain was a big help to oats, and two-thirds of a crop will be made.

Thomas—We have had two good rains the past week which were badly needed. Farmers have been putting out potatoes. The early oat crop is a failure; late oats will come out somewhat. Farmers have an optortunity to finish cotton planting.

Colquitt—Crops are all planted but the stand of cotton is very bad, owing to dry weather. Corn is injured and oats are almost a failure. Have had very little rain in the weeks.

Clinch—Oats are ruined but corn promises well. Cotton is damaged and some not ret up. The same is true of rice and peanits.

THE SOUTHERN EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The Balletins to Be Sent Out by the Secretary A Meeting Soon.

The preparations for the meeting of the Southern and the Georgia Educational Associations will begin actively within a few days. When the politicians get through saving the state, the local executive committee of the Southern Educational Association will get together and map out the work necessary to complete arrangement.

mittee of the Southern Educational Association will get together and map out the work necessary to complete arrangements for the reception of two thousand delegates. These delegates pay their way and this will make the work a pleasure, but there are, nevertheless, a good many details to be arranged.

The executive committee will get together the last of this week or the first of next to discuss the details and divide out the work among the different committees.

Mr. R. J. Guinn, the secretary, whose name was erroneously printed D. W. Gwinn in, the programme, will issue the bulletins to go out to the three thousand members of the Southern Educational Association. These bulletins will contain the official programme, with necessary information about railroad rates and the manner of securing tickets, hotel rates and other matters of interest to delegates.

Ten thousand copies of these bulletins will be printed and sent by express to the state teachers' associations, which meet in fifteen states the last week in June. At these state meetings parties will be made up for the trip to Atlanta. After attending the meeting of the Southern Educaional Association here some of the delegates will continue the trip to Saratoga, where they will meet the National Educational Association.

There Is No Thirty-Day Limit. In an interview the other day Comptroller General Wright was quoted as saying that the work of the equalizing boards would be over by the 1st of June. What he said was that the boards had thirty days to do this control of the contr to do their work, and could not begin be-fore the 1st of May, but he did not say that they must complete their work within thirty consecutive days. The law does not so require.

Three Railroads Assessed. Three Raliroads Assessed.

The comptroller general has assessed three railroads which returned property at a valuation lower than he believed to be right. They are assessed as follows:

Georgia Southern and Florida, $1,798,-144, as against a return of $1,653,847.

Georgia Midland and Gulf, $885,725, as against a return of $749,750.

Atlanta and Florida, $581,964, as against a return of $337,374.

These roads have twenty days in which to ask an arbitration.

A CONFEDERATE REUNION. Cobb's Legion and Phillips's Legion to Meet in August.

Cap Station, Bartow County, Georgia, May 17.—At the last annual meeting of Phillip's Legion confederate veterans, of Phillip's Legion confederate veterans, by unanimous vote of the association it was ordered that the surviving veterans of the Cobb Legion be invited to meet with the Phillips's Legion at Canton on the 10th day of August, 1892.

The fact that the two commands were so closely connected and identified in the dark days of war, and that the lamented General T. R. R. THE ROME LEVEE.

The Commissioners Make a Proposition to the Central Rallway Directors.

Judge Joel Branham, Mr. J. W. Rounsaville and Mr. Jack King, the levee commissioners of the city of Rome, were in the city yesterday on their return from Savannah, where they went to present to the Central railroad the matter of building a belt road on top of the levee. The suggestion was favorably received, and President Comer promised the commission that he would visit Rome at an early day and look over the ground.

The act creating this levee commission authorizes it to raise $50,000 by taxation of property in the district subject to inundation. The situation is such that the levee will form part of an ideal belt railroad leading to the chief manufacturing establishments of the city, and the commission proposes that the railroads supplement the $50,000 to be raised by taxation with a payment in consideration of which the roads will have the use of the levee for a belt railroad. The roads to be consulted are the East Tennessee, the Rome railroad and the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus. As the latter belongs to the Central, the negotiations are with the Central directory. The other roads are also disposed to consider the matter favorably.

asked Turnkey Cooper for a drink of water.

The turnkey attended to the request, handed the prisoner a glass of water, and was astonished to see him pour it into the mouth of a little tube that seemed to come from his vest pocket. The officer opened wide his eyes.

"I thought you wanted it to drink," he demanded.

demanded.
"I did. and I drank it," said the prisoner. "That's the way I drink and eat. I haven't swallowed in three years."

He then explained that diphtheria had ruined his swallowing apparatus, and he had to fix up a new way of eating and drinking.

Their Taxes.

The city taxbooks close on the 20th, and as that time approaches the officials in the office have less and less time to do anything but keep up with the crowds who are giving in their property.

Yesterday there was a rush all day, and dinners were hardly thought of in the office. All day long a string of people marched to the desk, and the crowd will continue until after the 20th.

A Dangerous Man when Drinking.
Gadaden, Ala., May 17.—(Special.)—There came near being a serious affray here tonight.
L. G. Jones, our leading livery stable man, became involved in a difficulty with Ben Reed, of Laney, Ala., in front of the Johnston house over a horse and buggy Reed had hired of Jones. Reed abused Jones terribly and struck at him with a knife, narrowly missing Jones's neck. Jones picked up a large scanting near by and dealt Reed a terrible blow on the forehead, knocking him senseless for several minutes. It was feared he was killed, but he is doing well now. After he regained consciousness he cursed Jones and said he would kill him the first opportunity he had or have it done. Jones is a peaceable citizen while Reed is said to be a dangerous man when drinking. A Dangerous Man when Drinking.

An Elegant Reception Tendered Visitors-A Short Session Today.

The brotherhood convention gaged all day on secret work and there was nothing last night to give out for publica-

Today the brotherhood will hold a short state democratic convention to occupy the chamber of the house of representatives. Judging from the amount of work ahead, the brotherhood cannot possibly get through before the latter part of next week and may have to run over until the first week in June.

A few of the delegates have been ill for two or three days but none seriously. The baseball is an attraction which some nembers manage to enjoy. The convention would not take a hand in the contest for the New York railroad commissionership. Messrs. Rickard, Lynn and Milan, all brotherhood men, are candidates. Rickard was appointed by Governor Hill and is popular. Each of the other brotherhood candidates has a following and the contest is mixed up. Governor Flower has said that he will appoint the man the brotherhood agrees on. The national convention will have nothing to do with a political fight and leaves the en-dorsement of a man in New York to the engineers of that state.

The brotherhood has members on the railroad commissions of several states. Ben Butler was the first governor to appoint an engineer as a state railroad commissioner and he took a brotherhood man. Governor Hill appointed an engineer. General Alger when a candidate for governor promised the brotherhood to appoint an engineer, Mr. Harry Hayes, the present sec-retary of the International Brotherhood. The engineers rallied to Alger that cam paign and turned defeat into a victory for him. He admitted that the brotherhood had elected him but he forgot his promise Michigan, however, has a brotherhood man now on the railroad commission. In Ohio there was a contest between brotherhood and the Order of Railway Conductors for a representative on the commission. The brothehood fulled to unite on one man and a conductor was appointed.

The engineers maintain that it is necessary a practical railroad man should be on the state commissons. There are thousands of questions in which a practical knowledge of railroads and trains is essential to understanding them. The safety of property and lives devolves so largely upon engineers that they hold no other single department is so much interested in the policy of railway commissions as theirs is.

Engineers on the Alert.

Nothing makes an engineer so watchful as to once kill a man, they say.

David Neilson, an engineer on the Grand Trunk railway, is a veteran. He comes from St. Thomas, Ont. He is one of Canada's best known engineers. Mr. Neilson has had many thrilling experiences. Fourteen years ago he had a tragic experience which he says he will never forget.

has had many thrilling experiences. Fourteen years ago he had a tragic experience which he says he will never forget.

One winter day, as he approached a crossing, he saw a couple driving in a sleigh up to the crossing. A house hid the crossing from his sight until he was nearly on it. The couple in the sleigh were heavily muffled about the head. They were two old folks. The husband was eighty years old and deaf. He was driving diagonally across the track. Engineer Neilson blew his whistle, but it was not heard. The next instant the locomotive struck the horse and sleigh. The horse was thrown shead on the track and the sleigh and its occupants were thrown up in the air. The farmer was thrown forty feet up in the air and was dead when he struck the ground. His wife was fatally injured. Ever after that, Mr. Neilson says he was glad to get by that crossing.

Three weeks ago he saved the lives of a hook and ladder crew. The fremen were responding to a call and never saw the approaching train or heard the signal of warning until they were up to the track. Mr. Neilson saw that they would be struck if they attempted to cross and he applied the air brakes. At the critical moment the fireman discovered the train and turned up the track. The train struck the wagon lightly and came to a stop almost instantly.

Working in a Tunnel.

J. L. Dingwall, of Fort Gratiot, Mich, is another engineer on the Grand Trunk the runs one of the engines which pulls the trains through the tunnel under the St. Clair river. There is no other, tunnel like this one in America. It is an immense iron tube, pearly a mile long, from fifteen to thirty feet under the bottom of the river. This tunnel is ventilated by fresh air forced in from either end. The largest locomotives used in America are engaged at the tunnel hauling trains through. That is all these engineer from the west says that there is a branch on his system which is so crooked and rough that the locomotives scrape every telegraph pole in making a trip over the line.

Hallstorm in Sweet Water Valley. Haltstorm in Sweet Water Valley.

Villa Rica, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—A disastrous halistorm passed just north of here yesterday evening. The cotton and corn are literally chopped to pieces. The trees in many places are stripped of their leaves. The storm seemed to follow Sweet Water creek, and went in the direction of Powder Springs. Some farmers report this morning that they have not a stalk of cotton or corn left. At sundown last night the hailstones were lying in heaps several inches deep.

Mr. Baker, of Chattanooga, was introduced to 5,000 Atlantians yesterday. And every one who met Mr. Baker formed a most favorable and pleasant opin-lon of that light-haired, handsome-faced entleman, who whiles away his time around that famed, historic Moccasin Bend. That same Mr. Baker is one of the most commodating, genial gentlemen who ever to Atlanta yesterday about noon, yesterday about noon, chaperoned by that genial, gentle, jolly Teddy Sullivan, who has been writing a chapter in the history of the Southern League of baseball clubs in Macon recently. As a composer, Teddy is an accurate success, and when future generations read ure generations read that Teddy wrote two defeats for the Ten-nessee banner flyers in the Central City, no

IN SETTER one will doubt it.

Teddy prides himself on his ability as a historical writer, and hen he had completed his work in Macon historical writer, and when he had completed his work in Macon the genial Irishman came to Atlanta to pen mother chapter in that history, which promises to have a big sale. Teddy dipped the tip of his pen in an ink well at Brisbine park yesterday to start the work, but the ink was too thick to flow nicely, and Teddy made slow progress. Then Teddy's work was retarded by the want of a blotter. Baker was put out to absorb the surplus ink, but he just couldn't absorb anything—not even a base hit.

The grand stand was packed when the name began, and before the first inning had been played the gates to the reserved seats were closed.

Every box was occupied and as many more could have been sold, one party offering $10 to any one who would relinquish his coupon for one of the favorite places.

win and royally they supported the team that now leads in the race. They were on the bleachers, in the smoking department, in the grand stand and in the boxes. Directors of the club were there. So were prominent business men and newspaper men. Then there were quite a number of Chattanooga ladies along with the party and every one was a gentle fan. They all held score cards and throughout the game manifested the deepest interest in the plays. One in particular, who is the guest of Atlanta friends, was decidedly engrossed in the game and the score card she threw away when the game was over showed that she was an adept at scoring.

The Game as Played.

The game started off with a rush which fore the game began and was ready and anxious for the start. The noise and applause seemed to indiplause seemed to indicate the presence of nearly as many Chattanoogians as Atlantians.

The Chattanooga boys came upon the grounds wearing a suit spotted and speckled like the politics of that thriving Tennessee town. The only Teddy, though not playing, was in uniform, but just to distinguish himself from the hands of a white frilled, puffed, Macon Chinaman.

Teddy keeps only one of those shirts, laced front shirt fresh from the hands of a Macon Chinaman.

Teddy keeps only one of those shirts, but has it laundered every day.

As Mr. Baker walked into the box the Chattanooga contingent of the grand stand gave him the grand recog. That pleased Baker, and he tickled his friends by nodding his swollen head. Jimmie Long put his rose over the plate and cut the air two or three times with his bat just to see if it would bend. Then Umpire Key called for play and Baker, the handsome, became a contortionist, but as the ball left his hand Long's bat met it before Mr. Baker could smooth out his wrinkles. The lick was a hard one and an's hands out in center field.

Nobody cared for that.

Everybody was pleased to see that Mr.
Baker's mystifying curves had found a solution. Hill put the ball in the same place and Keenan gulped it down. Then Berryhill fiew out.

Than Chattager.

Then Chattanooga's delegation went wild. Lawson put three balls over the plate and McCann hit the third. It dropped into Hill's hands. Hill and Burke flew out to Berry-hill.

Then Atlanta went wild.

Ardner got the first hit, a single and Westhake duplicated the order but both men were left on bases.

Baker struck out and then Ryan got his base on balls. Geiss made a hit and Ryan went to third. Williams made a three-bagger and Ryan and Geiss scored. Then Williams scored on Lawson's only wild pitch. The grounds wouldn't hold the noise Chattanooga made when those three runs were scored.

It didn't look very bright for Atlanta then and Atlanta people were rather quiet— Somewhat hacked.

Maskrey and Lawson both went out at first. Then Long got first by Keenan's error and stole second and third in most approved style. Hill made a hit and Long scored. Then Hill came in on an error of Burke's.

by striking out. But Hill made a hit and Maskrey scored. That gave Atlanta half of Chattanooga's Maskrey scored.

That gave Atlanta half of Chattanooga's full measure.

But it didn't satisfy Atlanta, of course. Three Chattanooga men bit the dust just as rapidly as they came up.

Then the fun started.

Just here it may be well to invite the attention of the Chattanooga people to the work which won the game. Last night some of them were asserting that the umpire had robbed them. Key has never robbed any one, and if he has ever given a club the worst of it Atlanta has always been that club. Atlanta simply knocked that Mr. Baker out of the box and pounded out the victory.

See how 'twas done.

Berryhill went out at first. Then Prescott made a hit and stole second. Ardner flew out to Keenan. Westlake made a clean hit which drove Prescott over the plate. Westlake stole second and McIntyre's two-bagger brought him in.

Lawson got his base on balls and Jimmy Long thumped the ball for three bags, driving McIntyre in. Then

Out of the five runs three were earned and one mighty near, while the last one was made because McCann muffed the ball.

It was ball playing, and not umpiring, that won that game.

ball.

It was ball playing, and not umpiring, that won that game.

After the third Chattanooga never passed second and only two men got that far. In the last half of the ninth three men went out on fly balls.

Atlanta simply outplayed Chattanooga in every column except the error column. Every man except Berryhill got a hit off Mr. Baker and three of them got two. Atlanta had four sacrifice hits, eleven assists and two errors. Chattanooga was too selfish to make a sacrifice, and piled up five errors, while getting sixteen assists. errors, while getting sixteen assists.

The only Teddy was on the coaching line, but didn't have his voice with him.

Read the score. It beats Teddy's work of history:

Now for Another Game.

The game today will probably be the best of the series. Both clubs will go out for blood and every man will do his level best.

Sullivan thinks that his man Phillips can go all around Atlanta's heavy hitters and will put him in the box. Teddy will come out in his new coaching suit and will give the Atlanta's lessons in coaching. None of the Chattanooga people went home last night and will be out in full force again this afterneon. They will be joined, too, by another big delegation which will come down today.

Maskrey will do his best to pull out another victory and will put up a combination just as strong as the one he had yesterday. Campfield will do the pitching and will strike a winning lick from the go.

The teams will be:

Memphis, Tenn., May 17.—(Special.)—Memphis' bad luck still continues, and yesterday she lost the first game with Montgomery by a score of 5 to 4.

In the ninth Memphis scored one run, and had a man on base with only one out. A clever double play by Stickney and Land ended the game, however.

Memphis had fair success in hitting little Gillen. Rank errors in the first were responsible for two of the visitors' runs. In the eighth Memphis had the bases full with no outs, but could only score once.

Behan, Memphis' first baseman, protested against the umpire calling strikes on him in the sixth inning, and was sent to the bench. He approached Umpire Graves with his bat in a threatening manner, and caught a one-hundred-dollar fine. Sherwood was substituted for Behan during the rest of the game.

trilis and cadenzas, shows exquisite cultivation.

Her mellow and graceful singing of "When Love was Young" gave her instant popularity, and her "Lullaby" was applauded to the echo. Miss Douglass, her companion, made a charming Cella, and McSweeny was never in better voice.

Pretty, petite Corinne Burton, as a semistar, was as seriously cunning as ever and the solo of Victor DeLacy was great. The "Downy Jail Birds" were, of course, the toasts of the evening.

Deshon added some political hits to his topical interpolations and the crowd encored all their specialties without mercy.

Miss Augusta Roche, the six-foot princess, made a most ridiculous foil for Deshon's brief stature.

Tomorrow night is "Patience"—"Patience" as originally produced in America, with Miss Lucette in the star role. Deshon will make an ideal Bunethorne, of course, and Mr. Sandford Cohen has spared no expense in giving the pipes a nuost magnificent staying.

Jack Livingston is a negro who seems to have an unquenchable craze for goods that belong to other people.

He was arrested yesterday morning, charged with committing a burglary at 140 Thompson street about two mouths ago.

There are a number of other charges against him on which he has not yet been tried.

The Boyd Corner at Auction.

This morning at 11 o'clock we sell the lot. 50x105 feet, fronting Peachtree, Broad and Luckie streets, at auction absolutely to the highest bidder on the most liberal terms—one-foorth cash, remainder in one to six years or longer, with 8 per cent interest, payable annually. No by-bids will be allowed. Captain Boyd, the owner, authorizes us to make this statement, and you know him to mean what he says. Imagine what a change will take place when the Arragon is opened and filled with guests; when Mr. Declive's new opera house is ready, and the elegant six-story building completed in front of the theater, and the beautiful arcade is finished: when Dr. Ridley finishes the building fronting the Arragon hotel; when the horse cars are substituted by electric cars; when St. Luke's church is sold and in its stead a fine business block is erected; when Mr. Neal builds up the Handy corner; when the Forsyth street bridge is completed; when Messrs. Grant. and L. P. Grant. and English and Healey. Wyly. Kirkpatrick, Hollman, and Phillips and Alexander improve their respective lots on Broad and Forsyth; when the small buildings below the Methodist church are made into imposing structures; when North Pryor is lined with the great buildings already projected; when Peachtree is paved with asphalt; when the Y. M. L. A., will sell their Decatur street property and buy Mrs. Ballard's place, and so on—will these changes?

It certainly will and if the Handy corner jumped from $16.000 to $40,000 in less than two years, the Boyd corner will make the man who buys it today at $1,000 to $1.200 per front foot happy at a like result. Think of the very liberal payments and remember how many and how vast the changes, and what enhancement will be sure to come in the value of this Boyd corner before you have to pay out much money, and you will secure this corner this morning.

Tendered a Reception,

Tendered a Reception,

The ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had a short session yesterday morning.

The time was taken up working on their constitution and by-laws and a few minutes were devoted to the insurance.

The work this morning will be a continuance of the work on their jurisprudence.

The most pleasant and one of the most important occasions of the whole convention was the reception at the Young Men's Christian Association last night.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the association gave it to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and it was a grand affair. These ladies long ago demonstrated that they know how to entertain and they exerted themselves last night. The gentlemen at the Young Men's Christian Association did all in their power towards making it a success and the big building was thronged. Mr. Will Drake, the physical instructor, was conducting one of his famous exhibitions down in the symnasium. The gallery was packed and the work of the sturdy athletes was loudly applauded. On the next floor where the reading room and parlors are, the reception committee was busy entertaining and showing the visitors around.

On the next floor where the lecture hall is, Wurm's full orchestra was giving a delightful concert and this room was also packed with the lovers of good music.

On the top floor was the greatest attraction in the way of delightful refreshments.

NEXT TUESDAY

Will See the Opening of the Encampment. HARD AT WORK ON THE CAMP.

Everything Almost in Readiness-United State's Soldiers to Assist-A Good Opening to Be Had.

With a flare of trumpets, the glint of brass buttons and bright steel and pleasing ceremonies the encampment of Georgia's militia will begin at Griffin next Tuesday.

And the first and fourth regiments of the Georgia volunteers will open up the encamement under command of Colonel George A. Mercer. It's just a few days before the opening, but already nearly everything is in readiness for the troops.

Quartermaster General West has just returned from Griffin, and reports the work progressing finely and with great speed. Colonel West and Lieutenant Satterlee went down Monday. With them went Mr. Kenan, the assistant quartermaster, and five regulars from McPherson barracks. These latter will remain during the week, getting everything in shape for the opening. Colonel West is delighted with the progress and the prospects. He says the en-tire encampment will be most successful and of the greatest good to the citizen soldiery. Yesterday he engaged Professor Marston's band to play during the entire encampment. There will be eleven pieces in the band-one of the best in the south. Besides this, the services of Bugler Wilson, of McPherson barracks, have been secured. He is acknowledged to be the next best bugler in the United States. Tomorrow, Captain Field, of the Fourth United States artillery, will start with his battery for the encampment grounds. They will march ten miles a day, arriving Monday, and will remain during the entire encampment. This will be at no cost to the state and is done as a compliment to the Georgia volunteer troops. The presence of these trained soldiers will be of incalculable benefit to the men, and much will be taught them thereby that could not be otherwise. The tents are being rapidly put up, and the grounds being gotten in shape. The First and Fourth regiments open the camp, and will show up a fine body of

There are fifteen companies in the two regiments. Here they are: First Regiment—Oglethorpe Light In-fantry, Savannah Cadets, Republican Blues, Irish Jasper Greens, German Vol-unteers—all of Savanpah. Fourth Regiment—Brunswick Riflemen, Thomasville Guards, Waycross Rifles, Dawson Guards, Dublin Light Infantry, Southern Rifles, of Macon, Fort Gaines Guards, Albany Guards, Quitman Grays, and Valdosta Videttes.

Funeral of Mr. Walker. Friends and acquaintances of Levi C. Walker and family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral services of Levi C. Walker Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock from the Fourth Presbyterian church, Rev. T. P. Cleveland officiating.

When You are Attacked in the Woods Woods

You may be helpless, but when you are attacked at home with biliousness, catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, inactivity of the liver, gout or rheumatism, you are not helpless. The remedy is Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. It is an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstruction by aiding nature, and not by sudden and excessive irritation, as most cathartics do. It is of great benefit in temporary and habitual constipation, liver and kidney diseases, chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels, rheumatism and gout, &c., and should be used early in the morning, before breakfast. Of the Macon and Northern Railway of Georgia.

AFFAIRS OF THE COMPANY ARRANGED.

President Harris's Beginning as a Railroad man-The Commencement of Wesleyan College.

Macon, Ga., May 17.-(Special.)-At a meeting of the board in control of the Macon and Northern, late the Macon and Covington, railroad held in Macon Colonel Nathaniel E. Harris was elected president of the road.

Other officers elected were: Superintendent-Mr. J. C. McMaster, of South Carolina.

Auditor and General Freight Agent-Mr. A. H. Hodgson, of Athens.

Treasurer-Mr. E. W. Burke. The offices of the railroad will be in points.

"Nathaniel E. Harris was born on January 21, 1840, in Jonesboro. He graduated at the university of Georgia in 1870 and entered the practice of law in Hancock in 1872. In 1873 he moved to Macon and began practicing law, and almost from the beginning has been one of the most prominent members of the Macon bar. Off and on from 1873 to 1885 he held the position of city attorney for Macon. In 1882 he entered politics for a brief season and was elected to the legislature from Bibb for two successive terms.

Harris's railroad career commenced in 1885, when he appointed by Colonel Machen state counsel for the Covington and Macon railroad, then projected and begun. He served in that position until the road was leased to the Richmond and Danville and Central railroads in "During that time Mr. Harris did some of the hardest legal work ever done by any railroad counsel in the United States. From the commencement of the work on the Covington and Macon road, lawsuits began and continued until after it was successfully completed. The road had in all 388 lawsuits, all of which were met by the indomitable Colonel Machen and his able attorney, Mr. Harris, and a short while after the road was completed it stood square with the world.

"Mr. Harris knows everything connected with the road, from the time the first crosstie was laid to the present. Beyond question, no better man could be found for the place."

RAILROAD NEWS.

Dan Rountree Gets Valuable Points from General Thomas.

HE SWIMS IN VERY DEEP WATER.

The Atlanta Attorney and the Great Railroad Financier Have a Sociable Chat About the Situation.

Dan Rountree got home yesterday fresh from mingling with the great railway magnates of New York. He went north s week ago to get some evidence for use the East Tennessee receivership case. He says he had better success than he expected. When he got to New York he thought it best to beard the lions in their den. He called on General Sam Thomas, among others, and they had a sociable chat.

General Thomas remarked that when a new star appears in the financial or com-mercial firmament New York's business as tronomers turn their telescopes on him.
"We have all had our glasses on you, Mr.
Rountree," said General Thomas, "and we have discovered that you are no mere me Not to be outdone. Mr. Rountree retorted:

"In you, General Thomas, we recognize a star of the first magnitude, visible to the naked eye." Chatting about the railroad situation in the south, General Thomas remarked that he felt no antagonism to the parties who are bringing the railroads into the courts. "For myself, I am a candid man and have othing which I would wish to conceal from the courts," the general declared. "No doubt you have conferred a benefit on the railroads," he added.

"In the event you put the East Tenness in a receivership remember that I am a rail-road manager and would make a good re-ceiver," said General Thomas. "I will run

"I'm glad you mentioned it. No doubt Chancellor Gibson will offer you the post-tion. In fact, you may consider it as al-rendy offered. You will be notified by wire of your appointment as soon as it is made,"

Mr. Rountree answered.
In the course of their conversation, General Thomas mentioned that he had resigned at the request of Mr. Olcott. That was a point the young Atlanta attorney was after.
"How about Mr. Felton's resignation as president?" Mr. Rountree inquired casually.

"He got a telegram from Mr. Oakman asking him to resign and he wired it back."

That was another point that Dan Rountree went north t find out about. Directly he learned that Mr. John Inman's reluctant resignation was brought about in the same way.

"Did you resign cheerfully?" asked Mr.

Rountree of General Thomas.

"You know I am an obliging man and like to please my friends," General Thomas replied. replied.

The next day all these points were put in writing and admitted by the East Tennes-

Mr. Rountree and General Thomas were mutually pleased with each other. Mr. Rountree says that General Thomas swims in deep water, so far below the surface that he does not make a ripple, and when he dives there in no telling where he will come up next.

dives there in no telling where he will come up next.

Mr. Rountree says that there are four or five factions in the Terminal and each suspects the other. He was suspected to be inspired by one of the factions and two detectives followed him and reported daily to one of the Terminal factions every office he entered and every place he visited.

Another plan is to be put out for the Terminal's reorganization, Mr. Rountree thinks. He says that the complainants will make out a strong case next Monday if Knoxville against the East Tennessee.

Real Estate. A shrewd Atlanta capitalist, when asked why he did not build up some of his valuable central lots, replied: "I can build at any time, but I can't buy lots where I want them of the buy lots where I want them central lots, replied: "I can build at any time, but I can't buy lots where I want them at any time." This was a wise remark by an experienced, thoughtful, observing man. Who can buy the corner on Peachtree south of the Capital City Club? Dr. Riddey bought it, and it is not for sale. Who can buy the corner of Decatur and Loyd streets? Captain W. D. Grant bought it, and it is permanently off the market. Who can buy the corner of South Pryor and East Hunter? Mr. M. C. Kiser bought it, and the "Law Building" adorus it, and stands a monument to his sagacity. Who can buy the corner of Alabama and South Pryor streets? The Hills now enjoy the fruits of their judgment, and the Gate City bank will go from generation to generation in the family line.

Did E. P. Chamberlin make a mistake when he secured the Whitehall and Hunter street corner? Could not he and Mr. High afford to borrow money to secure their valuable corners? Run your minds over the various prominent business corners in Atlanta now, and think back five or ten years at the opportunities you had to secure some or all of them. Then turn your mind to the future five or ten years hence, and try to conceive of the wonderful changes to be wrought in that time.

Where will the finest hotel in the city be five or ten years hence, and try to conceive of the wonderful changes to be wrought in that time.

Where will the finest hotel in the city be located? Where will the leading theater be situated? What sort of buildings will be on the Alexander lot at the corner of Broad. Luckie and Peachtree? Will Fingler have bought the Healey lot, from Broad to Forsyth, along Walton, for a hotel palace? Will the Equitable be duplicated?

How many business houses on Forsyth will follow the completion of the Forsyth street bridge in five or ten years? What may you expect to see on North Pryor in a decade? How long before the Seltzer corner, the Handy corner, the Loyd corner, the Eaundry corner, the Grant and Kirkpatrick corner, and the Ridley corner, will be improved? We merely suggest these thoughts in connection with the Boyd corner, the most prominent of them all, in the midst of them all; and which we sell at auction this morning at 11 o'clock. You can build on your other lots when you please, but today's sale is your last and only chance to secure the Boyd corner. The terms are so liberal that almost any man with a good income can buy it. Be on hand, gentlemen, and secure this valuable property.
